Nixon In Campaign Swing; Wants To 'Finish The Job'

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon, making his biggest campaign-season tour, says he seeks not simply victory but "a victory for America—that's what we're working for."

Nixon, appearing at a $1,000-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner in New York, argued that he must have the opportunity to "finish the job" that was begun with overtures to Moscow and Peking.

The President also held out to voters the prospect that in a second term he would achieve in the domestic arena the triumphs which he claimed for his first 3½ years in the field in foreign policy.

Nixon's remarks were piped by closed-circuit television to GOP dinner audiences in 27 other cities.

In talking about "a victory for America," Nixon said he believes his appeal crosses regional, party and generational lines. He went on: "We've only begun and there's so much left to do."

Looking to the past, and particularly to his ventures into personal diplomacy in China and the Soviet Union, he asserted, "we have changed the world."

Nixon, accompanied by wife Pat, was bound today for California, to address a money-raising GOP luncheon and to inspect the new rapid-transit system in San Francisco, and to attend a "victory '72" dinner in Los Angeles.

Nixon met in New York Tuesday with Jewish leaders from 13 states as well as with the Republican faithful and Democrats for Nixon, and today released a statement renewing his stand against Arab terrorism against Israel.

"The time has come for civilized people to act in concert to remove the threat of terrorism from the world," he said.

Saying some argue that "terror is the last resort of the weak and the oppressed" who seek only political justice, Nixon said, "This is nonsense."

He argued that justice must be achieved through negotiation.

Escapee From Ohio Gets New Life In South Carolina

ORANBURG, S.C. (AP)—"Nobody ever cared about me before," Herman Franklin Guess Jr. said Tuesday after learning he would have a chance here to start his life over.

"Nobody has ever really listened to me," explained the 36-year-old man, who claimed he had been held in an Ohio mental institution "without reason" since he was 13.

Guess, a native of Carrollton, Ohio, was picked up Sunday night by Dennis Llinas, a city policeman, in a used car lot.

"He said he was an escapee from the Orient State Institute for the mentally ill at Orient, Ohio," Llinas reported, "and that he was tired, hungry and ready to give up."

Police Chief John Cook said he called the Orient hospital and "they said they didn't want him, that he was not dangerous, not mentally ill, but a little dull and slow."

The only explanation Guess could give for the predicament he said he has been in for 23 years was that he was in a foster home at the age of 13 and the Ohio Welfare Department had him sent to the mental institution.

When word of Guess' situation got around here, police said, the town "opened up" to him. They said he has been given food stamps, a temporary Social Security card and clothes.

Charges of vagrancy and possibly being an escapee were dismissed in a hearing by Tony Fannin, city recorder.

The local officer of a state job-finding program is evaluating his abilities in order to find him employment. In the meantime, Guess is staying at the Salvation Army transient lodge while efforts are being made to get welfare funds for him and find him other lodgings.

Sentence Delayed For Manslaughter

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sentence was delayed in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court for a probation investigation in the second conviction of Jessie James Clifton, 24, for first-degree manslaughter.

Clifton said he shot James Hargrove, 17, in May 1971 when he thought the youth was attacking him in a bookstore where Clifton was employed.

He said the new Department of Transportation, which becomes a reality Friday, will be working on a statewide transportation plan for all transit modes.

Richley also pointed out legislation in Congress is pending which could have an impact on how gasoline tax money can be spent and he saw "no sense in second guessing the Congress."

Minimum Pay Bill Deadlock Broken; Vote Set Oct. 3

Senate Debates Welfare Reform

WASHINGTON (A) — Working against a deadline, the Senate opens floor debate today on the hotly disputed welfare-reform legislation, a gigantic bill sweetened with Social Security increases.

The fate of the $14.6-billion legislation is highly uncertain because prolonged debate over its controversial provisions would thwart congressmen's hopes for adjournment by Oct. 14.

But the bill also contains many Social Security and Medicare benefits which its sponsors consider highly popular in election year.

An effort will be made to rescue these benefit provisions in some fashion if the full bill cannot be passed.

The 889-page bill has been nearly two years in the making. It passed the House in June a year ago and has been stuck since that time in the Senate Finance Committee.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has called the bill to the floor despite the lateness in the session to fulfill his pledge that President Nixon's top-priority proposals would be given consideration.

As the bill was submitted by the President and passed by the House, it contained his proposals to change the system of providing public assistance for families with dependent children.

The Senate Finance Committee, however, rejected the Nixon plan and substituted its own Welfare system which would impose much tougher work requirements on parents in the welfare families.

This dispute is expected to dominate the Senate debate.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., floor manager for the bill, predicted that all the provisions except those on the welfare families could pass in a few days.

The Social Security provisions in the bill would give special benefits to widows, the disabled, men, persons who work beyond 65 and other groups.

The legislation would expand Part A of Medicare, which is financed by Social Security, to give coverage to 1.5 million persons who now receive Social Security disability payments and to include payment for drugs needed by chronically ill aged persons.

Social Security taxes would be raised about $6 billion a year to pay for these new benefits.

Nixon's family-assistance plan would fix a minimum $2,400 annual income for a family of four and, for the first time, provide payments for the working poor.

The Finance Committee's Welfare plan would remove from the welfare rolls families whose children were in school and require the parents to take jobs with a federal corporation in order to receive any income from the government.

Cuts Down Senate Version On Coverage

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic supporters of a bill increasing the minimum wage have reached a tentative agreement with key Southern Democrats that could break a long deadlock on the legislation.

The agreement calls for increasing the present $1.60-an-hour rate to $1.90 within 60 days of enactment and to $2.10 a year later. Lower rates would prevail for agricultural workers and full-time students.

The compromise was hammered out Tuesday at a two-hour secret session attended by the managers of the bill, representatives of organized labor and Reps. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and Joe D. Waggoner, D-La.

It will be put to a test Oct. 3 when the House is scheduled to vote on a motion to permit a House-Senate conference to work out a final version of the legislation.

Opposition from Republicans and Southern Democrats has blocked the conference for nearly two months. Opponents have been demanding assurances that the House conferees will stand by the much-molested House bill.

The coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats succeeded in having its own bill passed by the House last May. The bill would raise the minimum wage to $1.80 this year and $2 a year later, freeze coverage at present levels and apply a lower rate to teen-age workers as well as students.

The Senate bill would boost the rate to $2 this year and $2.20 next year and bring eight million new workers under protection of the act. It contains no (Continued on Page 2)

Armed Forces Arrest 92 In Philippines

2 Provincial Mayors Among Those Confined

MANILA (AP) — Two provincial mayors, two councilors and the son of a man who wants the Philippines to become an American state were among persons apprehended today as Philippine armed forces continued their sweep against persons said to be subversives, Information Secretary Francisco Tatad said.

Tatad said arrests were continuing and that a new figure and list of names would be released later. At least seven more persons have been detained, including Amando Doronilla, editor of the Manila Chronicle, and one of the paper's columnists, Ernesto Granada.

As of Tuesday, 92 persons were in custody under the sweeping General Order No. 2 that President Ferdinand Marcos issued in assuming the power to arrest criminals and anyone declared to be a subversive.

Those arrested included Antonio Rufino Jr., whose father is leader of the movement which wants the Philippines to become the 51st American state.

He claims a following of millions. The young Rufino was accused of being a gang leader and war lord.

To date, the army's drive to disarm Filipinos has netted 2,200 firearms of various kinds and 2,500 rounds of ammunition. Tatad said he would release the number of guns and ammunition surrendered voluntarily later.

As part of a drive against privilege in high places, congressmen, governors, senators and all political leaders have been stripped of their official bodyguards. Tatad said 750 officers and men have been recalled and returned to the army as a result.

Elections Board Issues Statement On Registration

Several "harassing" telephone calls have prompted three members of the Pickaway County Board of Elections to issue a statement concerning its practice of registering voters only at its office in the Court House.

During its September meeting the board voted 2-1 against a proposal to establish area registration sites. Voting against the area registration proposal were Lucille Dumm and Ned H. Dresbach while William Stout favored the proposal. Delbert Remy was not present at the meeting.

Remy, Dresbach and Miss Dumm have issued the following statement:

"We, the members of the Pickaway County Board of Elections, feel it is necessary to clarify our position taken on voter registration. We do not like for our employees to be harassed on the phone and being taken from important work by people who are insisting on opening polling places throughout the county."

"OUR poll workers are not familiar with registration so that would mean special schooling for them. We have just been through a special election and workers do cost money."

"Our office is open all week long so it shouldn't be too difficult to make it on one of the days. We have offered to set up special hours for those who absolutely cannot make it on one of those days."

"Some are complaining we are located in a poor place and there is not parking space. We have been here for a number of years but we too have been searching for a larger, more convenient office. At the present time it is impossible to find."

"We feel that people travel all over the county to ball games and other activities so we feel if they are really interested in voting they will make an effort to get registered. In the past many (Continued on Page 2)

End-War Bids Dead For Year

Senate Strikes Aid Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Advocates of cutting off the money for U.S. participation in the Vietnam war are ready to give up for the year after suffering a reversal in the Senate.

"The next vote comes on Nov. 7 when the people will decide," Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., said after the Senate voted 45 to 42 Tuesday to strip an "end-the-war" amendment from the foreign-military-aid authorization bill.

Cranston, a leader of Democratic antiwar strategists in the Senate, told a reporter he referred to congressional elections as well as the presidential election.

The Senate tally reversed two previous roll calls by which the Senate voted 50 to 44 on July 24 and 49 to 47 on Aug. 2 to adopt similar amendments to cut off funds for U.S. military operations in Indochina in four months, conditioned on release of American prisoners of war by North Vietnam.

Cranston attributed the reversal to absenteeism. Six antiwar members and four opponents of the fund cutoff weren't there.

The only switch from the previous vote was Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., who voted Tuesday for the motion by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., to strike the troop-withdrawal requirement from the bill.

Stennis, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told the Senate he believes President Nixon has been doing all he can as "head of a self-respecting nation" to bring the Vietnam war to an end.

Massacre Probe On By Army?

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Daily Oklahoman reported today that the Army has been investigating for two years allegations that a single infantry company committed a series of war crimes in the same vicinity as the My Lai massacre.

The Daily Oklahoman said the toll in murdered civilians and executed prisoners was estimated by former members of the unit from 80 to "hundreds."

The unit under investigation is Company C, 2nd Battalion, 35th Infantry, 3rd Brigade, 25th Infantry Division, the paper said in a story by Jack Taylor. Taylor said the company was attached to the 4th Infantry Division and was operating in Quang Ngai Province when the alleged crimes were committed in the spring of 1967.

That is the same general area of the My Lai massacre, which occurred the following spring after the 4th Division was relieved by the 23rd Infantry (Americal) Division.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said several investigations are under way but that he could not say if one involved Quang Ngai.

Many of the atrocities allegedly committed by the unit of the 35th Infantry occurred during a search-and-destroy operation between March 18-23, 1967, the Daily Oklahoman said.

The series of alleged atrocities involves allegations of burning villages and crops, mutilating dead bodies and executing unarmed civilians and captured enemy troops, the paper said.

Saxbe, Taft Absent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio Republican Sens. William Saxbe and Robert Taft Jr. did not vote Tuesday when the Senate adopted 45-42 a motion to knock out an end-the-war amendment in a foreign military aid bill. However, both were paired for the motion.

Repeal Vote Can't Be Stopped, Brown Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown today certified for circulation supplemental petition to put an income repeal measure on the ballot Nov. 7.

Brown turned over 10,000 petitions to repeal drive leader Rep. Robert E. Netzel, R-7 Laura, Brown said within two days he would have 2,500 more petitions the repeal group requested.

Brown said he didn't see how a repeal vote could be stopped. He said repeal forces will have to garner some extra 20,000 names in 11 to possibly 14 days.

"That will be no problem," said Rep. Chester Cruze, R-68 Cincinnati, a repeal backer. Other repeal advocates said they expected to get 100,000.

Repeal forces won two major court decisions in Cincinnati Tuesday. Unless the Supreme Court should intervene, and overturn them, Cruze said,

"there is no way they can stop us."

In one decision, Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge William Morrissey rejected a request from a repeal opponent that could have kept the local board of elections from advertising the issue as Brown ordered.

In a separate case, filed by repeal leaders, the court granted a request that all 88 county boards of elections in the state follow Brown's orders on advertising.

Brown had ordered the advertising to begin last Sunday. The constitution requires the issue to be published in newspapers of general circulation in each county for five consecutive weeks before the election.

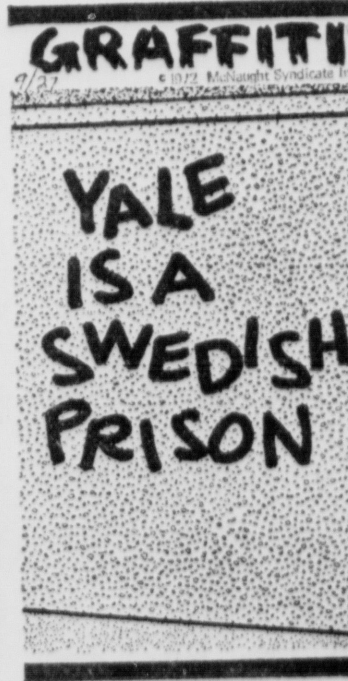

Repeal backers led by Rep. Robert Netzel, R-7 Laura, said they see little difficulty in coming up with the additional names. They need 318,414 valid signatures.

The law specifies they must be given 10 days from the day after their supplemental petitions are certified (Thursday) to gather the names.

They could get another three days, if they desire, because the end of the 10-day period falls on a Saturday, when the Statehouse is closed, and the following Monday, Oct. 9, is Co-

Richley Hits Shaw Plan On Transport

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Highway Director J. Philip Richley said Tuesday he thinks the timing is bad on two transportation bills introduced by Sen. Robert Shaw, R-16 Columbus.

Richley appeared with two other cabinet officers for a question and answer session at the Ohio Municipal League convention that opened here Tuesday.

One of Shaw's bills would increase Ohio's Gasoline tax from seven to nine cents a gallon. The other would combine the Ohio Turnpike and Underground parking commissions into a state Transportation Commission with broad power to fund transit projects.

Richley said he thinks the bills should be "held in abeyance" until Ohio's transportation needs "can be more closely identified."

Any further attempt to escape would have left two boys panting and one pants-less.

COULD this be carrying equal time to far? A life long Democrat running for a local office ordered 250 campaign pens bearing his name and an inscription for voters to support his party. But when the pens arrived, the inscription urged voters to "vote Republican." He handed several out before discovering the error. We understand he is reordering.

PROSPECTIVE drivers be alerted. The Highway Patrol Driver Examining Station will be closed Wednesdays after Oct. 4. The schedule for the next three weeks will be: Oct. 2, 3, 4, 10, 16 and 17. Examinations for licensing will be scheduled on Mondays and Tuesdays only until further notice is given. The station will be closed Oct. 9 in honor of Columbus Day.

Repeal Vote Can't Be Stopped, Brown Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown today certified for circulation supplemental petition to put an income repeal measure on the ballot Nov. 7.

Brown turned over 10,000 petitions to repeal drive leader Rep. Robert E. Netzel, R-7 Laura, Brown said within two days he would have 2,500 more petitions the repeal group requested.

Brown said he didn't see how a repeal vote could be stopped. He said repeal forces will have to garner some extra 20,000 names in 11 to possibly 14 days.

"That will be no problem," said Rep. Chester Cruze, R-68 Cincinnati, a repeal backer. Other repeal advocates said they expected to get 100,000.

Repeal forces won two major court decisions in Cincinnati Tuesday. Unless the Supreme Court should intervene and overturn them, Cruze said,

"there is no way they can stop us."

In one decision, Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge William Morrissey rejected a request from a repeal opponent that could have kept the local board of elections from advertising the issue as Brown ordered.

In a separate case, filed by repeal leaders, the court granted a request that all 88 county boards of elections in the state follow Brown's orders on advertising.

Brown had ordered the advertising to begin last Sunday. The constitution requires the issue to be published in newspapers of general circulation in each county for five consecutive weeks before the election.

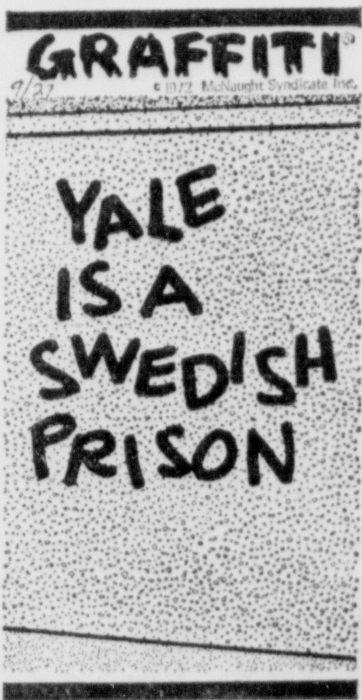

Repeal backers led by Rep. Robert Netzel, R-7 Laura, said they see little difficulty in coming up with the additional names. They need 318,414 valid signatures.

The law specifies they must be given 10-days from the day after their supplemental petitions are certified (Thursday) to gather the names.

They could get another three days, if they desire, because the end of the 10-day period falls on a Saturday, when the Statehouse is closed, and the following Monday, Oct. 9, is Co-

Power Outage Hits Part Of This County

The southwestern portion of Pickaway County experienced a total electrical power outage for nearly three hours Tuesday evening.

Power to an area including Williamsport, Kinderhook, Clarksburg and Frankfort in Ross County was out from 7:53 until 10:40 p.m. last night.

A spokesman for the South Central Power Co. noted that the failure was in Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. equipment. "The problem was that they were not feeding us current," SCP employee Pete Noble said.

Noble explained that South Central received current for that area from transmission lines of the Columbus and Southern.

"For some reason, we were not getting any current. We don't know why yet," Noble noted that crews from both companies were searching out the problem today.

City Police Nab Runaway Boys

Three runaway juvenile boys were apprehended by Circleville police Tuesday afternoon in a field just east of the city.

Pt. Bill Pontious spotted the boys near the Penn Central Railroad tracks. They fled when they spotted the cruiser but Pontious gave chase and took them into custody a short time later.

The youngsters, two 14-year-olds and one 15-year-old, were taken to the police station and turned over to Hocking County authorities. All three were from Laurelville.

They had been missing since Monday morning when they ran away from school.

U.S. Diplomat Escapes Death In Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (AP) — A powerful terrorist bomb set ablaze the armored limousine carrying the ranking U.S. diplomat in Cambodia to work this morning, but the envoy escaped unhurt, authorities reported.

Police at first reported two motorcycle policemen escorting the limousine and a civilian were killed in the blast and four Cambodians wounded. But U.S. Embassy sources said later only one policeman was killed and that the other was critically injured. They said doctors offered little hope of saving him.

Thomas O. Enders, 40, the U.S. charge d'affaires, emerged unscathed from the battered wreckage of the car. He was on his way to the American Embassy, where he is in charge while Ambassador Emory C. Swanik is on home leave in the United States.

Swank escaped an assassination attempt Sept. 7, 1971. A riderless bicycle bearing a 13-pound plastic bomb concealed among loaves of French bread was sent careening into his limousine. The bomb failed to explode and the bicycle fell harmlessly to the street.

"We feel very deeply for the policemen," Enders said in a brief interview in his office.

Otherwise totally unruffled, the diplomat spoke as if escaping assassination attempts were part of his daily routine.

"Not a scratch," he told one caller.

Enders pointed out that it was one year and one day since the last terrorist attack against U.S. Embassy personnel in Phnom Penh. Two Americans were killed and 13 others wounded when a softball game was bombed on Sept. 26 last year.

Police sources said they believe the bomb was placed aboard a pedicab and that it was detonated by an unknown terrorist on a motorcycle. No further details were available.

These sources said no arrests had been made.

Police immediately set up roadblocks to check civilians close to the site, near the independence monument on October 9th Boulevard.

The blast was so powerful it blew out windows of neighboring houses and stripped leaves and several branches of trees bordering the boulevard.

McGovern Vows To Force War Issue On Americans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. George McGovern has vowed to force the moral issue of war upon the American conscience, and if he wins the White House, to end "this murderous bombing" within five minutes of his inauguration.

He said he did not expect the normal campaign applause for his account of casualties and of "the most incredible and murderous bombardment in all the history of mankind."

The Democratic presidential nominee invoked the war issue from a platform President Nixon is to occupy tonight.

It was a solemn windup to a campaign Tuesday that had featured the whooping politics of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, bidding for Democratic solidarity at the side of the man who beat him for the presidential nomination.

"I'm going to do everything within my power between now and Nov. 7 to force the American people to examine the serious moral questions that are confronting us because of this barbaric behavior that has been going on in Indochina," McGovern told about 1,000 people at a $250-a-plate fund-raising dinner Tuesday night.

In the same Century Plaza Hotel ballroom tonight, Nixon is to address a $1,000-a-ticket Republican campaign dinner.

McGovern drew applause with his pledges to end the war and gain freedom for American prisoners. But when one tentative round of applause rippled through the ballroom after he spoke of civilian casualties, McGovern said:

"I know these things are hard to clap about and I don't expect applause on descriptions of that kind."

After a 14-hour day of vote-hunting in California, the state he said is his top-priority target in the presidential campaign. McGovern spent the night fly-

Course In Balloon Building Said Limited In Practicality

TOLLAND, Conn. (AP) — Charles E. MacArthur says his adult education course in balloon building is very practical — for the 19th century.

"Its practicality is limited in the 20th," he admits.

However, MacArthur says several persons have expressed an interest in building their own balloons.

"You can do it weekends during the winter in your living room, if you have an understanding wife," the long-time balloon enthusiast says. MacArthur, who owns a printing plant, has built balloons for sale and teaches short college courses. But the 10-week adult education ballooning course he starts Oct. 4 at Tolland High School is his most ambitious teaching effort.

The class will construct a full-sized balloon. Students will start by weaving a basket and then use low-cost materials to make an air bag 30 feet in diameter, he says.

After it has been completed, the balloon will be given a test flight with a nonhuman cargo. The students, however, may get a demonstration ride in the instructor's 85-foot balloon.

For MacArthur, ballooning is part business and part obsession.

"It's a great pleasure to make money this way," says MacArthur.

MacArthur said one person commuted weekends to Connecticut from Miami to learn balloon building from him. Another proposed to travel from South America, he recalled, "but his wife found out about it and prevented his exiting the country. It was very sensible on her part."

Elections . . .

(Continued from Page 1) Interested party workers have furnished cars and brought people to be registered. We also feel there is less chance of errors when registering at our office. We feel justified in taking this stand.

Proponents of area registration contend it would give very eligible person in the county a better opportunity to register.

It would require the opening of special places in the county on a set day with two poll workers, one a Democrat and one a Republican, to supervise the registration.

Voter registration was inaugurated in Pickaway County in 1960. The board reported that on Sept. 28, 1960, 13,433 citizens were registered to vote. Costs of the registration was $4,322 or 32 cents per registered voter.

IN 1962, a request for area registration was defeated by the board.

However, area registration was conducted in the county Sept. 9, 1964. Precincts in Ashville, Derby, Williamsport, New Holland and Tarlton were opened from noon to 8 p.m. on that date.

Costs of the registration was about $140. There were no totals available on the actual number of persons registered by the drive, but 1,185 persons were registered from May, 1964, until the close of registration.

Voters may register in the Court House at the board of elections office 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, 9 a.m. to noon Wednesday and Saturday.

On October 6, the officers will be open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 7 and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Oct. 10.

Officer Finds Bunny Hunt Hard On Self

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police Sgt. Joseph Reiner was on night patrol when he saw a woman jump out of a car and begin chasing a white rabbit.

After getting an explanation ("If we don't get it back my little girl will be heart broken"), Reiner took up the chase.

After six blocks he slipped and fell, tearing the elbow out of his shirt. The rabbit was only 10 feet away, but it bounded away as soon as Reiner muttered something at it.

Reiner gave up and returned to his car to radio: "Officer needs help."

Two other police cars screeched in response to the emergency call, not knowing what to expect. "I didn't quite know how to tell them I was chasing a rabbit," Reiner explained after the incident Tuesday.

Within an hour, one of the five officers grabbed the rabbit beneath a car and delivered it to the woman.

Reiner has become known among his colleagues as "Rabbit Man."

Stock List Up Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices managed a minor gain today, with help from the Commerce Department's statement that leading economic indicators advanced 2.2 per cent in August—the best advance since March.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 0.30 to 936.86. Advances led declines 600 to 449 on the Big Board, with 1,474 issues handled in slow trading.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,400 common stocks was up .13 to 59.44. At the American Stock Exchange, the price change index was up .02 to 25.9.

Mills and Waggoner were key participants in Tuesday's meeting. The Democrats in charge of the bill want to accept some of the more generous Senate provisions but they need Southern votes to get through the conference.

Details of the tentative agreement were not disclosed but important concessions to the Southerners reportedly were made in the area of wage rates and overtime pay for farm workers and food processors.

The increase to $1.90 and then to $2.10 would go to non-agricultural workers in jobs covered before 1966 when the act was amended to add new areas of employment. Farm workers and workers brought in by the 1966 amendments would not get the full increase under terms of the tentative agreement.

MacArthur, who owns a printing plant, has built balloons for sale and teaches short college courses. But the 10-week adult education ballooning course he starts Oct. 4 at Tolland High School is his most ambitious teaching effort.

The class will construct a full-sized balloon. Students will start by weaving a basket and then use low-cost materials to make an air bag 30 feet in diameter, he says.

After it has been completed, the balloon will be given a test flight with a nonhuman cargo. The students, however, may get a demonstration ride in the instructor's 85-foot balloon.

For MacArthur, ballooning is part business and part obsession.

"It's a great pleasure to make money this way," says MacArthur.

MacArthur said one person commuted weekends to Connecticut from Miami to learn balloon building from him. Another proposed to travel from South America, he recalled, "but his wife found out about it and prevented his exiting the country. It was very sensible on her part."

Elections . . .

Interested party workers have furnished cars and brought people to be registered. We also feel there is less chance of error when registering at our office. We feel justified in taking this stand."

Proponents of area registration contend it would give very eligible person in the county a better opportunity to register.

It would require the opening of special places in the county on a set day with two poll workers, one a Democrat and one a Republican, to supervise the registration.

Voter registration was inaugurated in Pickaway County in 1960. The board reported that on Sept. 28, 1960, 13,433 citizens were registered to vote. Costs of the registration was $4,322 or 32 cents per registered voter.

IN 1962, a request for area registration was defeated by the board.

However, area registration was conducted in the county Sept. 9, 1964. Precincts in Ashville, Derby, Williamsport, New Holland and Tarlton were opened from noon to 8 p.m. on that date.

Costs of the registration was about $140. There were no totals available on the actual number of persons registered by the drive, but 1,185 persons were registered from May, 1964, until the close of registration.

Voters may register in the Court House at the board of elections office 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, 9 a.m. to noon Wednesday and Saturday.

On October 6, the officers will be open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 7 and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Oct. 10.

Officer Finds Bunny Hunt Hard On Self

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police Sgt. Joseph Reiner was on night patrol when he saw a woman jump out of a car and begin chasing a white rabbit.

After getting an explanation ("If we don't get it back my little girl will be heart broken."), Reiner took up the chase.

After six blocks he slipped and fell, tearing the elbow out of his shirt. The rabbit was only 10 feet away, but it bounded away as soon as Reiner muttered something at it.

Reiner gave up and returned to his car to radio: "Officer needs help."

Two other police cars screeched in response to the emergency call, not knowing what to expect. "I didn't quite know how to tell them I was chasing a rabbit," Reiner explained after the incident Tuesday.

Within an hour, one of the five officers grabbed the rabbit beneath a car and delivered it to the woman.

Reiner has become known among his colleagues as "Rabbit Man."

Stock List Up Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices managed a minor gain today, with help from the Commerce Department's statement that leading economic indicators advanced 2.2 per cent in August—the best advance since March.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 0.30 to 936.86. Advances led declines 600 to 449 on the Big Board, with 1,474 issues handled in slow trading.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,400 common stocks was up .13 to 59.44. At the American Stock Exchange, the price change index was up .02 to 25.9.

Power Outage Hits Part Of This County

The southwestern portion of Pickaway County experienced a total electrical power outage for nearly three hours Tuesday evening.

Power to an area including Williamsport, Kinderhook, Clarksburg and Frankfort in Ross County was out from 7:53 until 10:40 p.m. last night.

A spokesman for the South Central Power Co. noted that the failure was in Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. equipment. "The problem was that they were not feeding us current," SCP employee Pete Noble said.

Noble explained that South Central received current for that area from transmission lines of the Columbus and Southern.

"For some reason, we were not getting any current. We don't know why yet," Noble noted that crews from both companies were searching out the problem today.

Compulsory Aid

France has a law for a situation which causes Americans a great deal of conscience-searching. This is the seemingly widespread tendency not "to become involved" in others' misfortunes, even at a time when help might be a matter of life or death.

Everyone can remember reading of incidents where a victim of a hit-run driver lay untended as a companion signaled passing motorists in vain.

In France it is a crime for one to abstain voluntarily "from giving assistance to a person in danger that, without risk for himself or for others, he could have given either by personal action or by calling for help."

The penalty is a month to three years in prison, a fine of $50 to $2,000, or both.

The French decided long ago that those who choose not to be involved in a humane action should face involvement with the law instead. A similar law would be an ironic development for Americans. Fear of involvement in litigation is why many find it convenient to ignore fellow men in trouble.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Sugar, which some scientists think our diet would be better without, was for several centuries a luxury enjoyed usually only by very wealthy people and members of royalty. In 14th century England two pounds of sugar were worth one stout pig.

If you woke up in a strange place and didn't know where you were, you could at least find out whether you were north or south of the equator by looking at a climbing vine. North of the equator, these vines twine from left to right, south of the equator they twine from right to left.

If you become rich in Soviet Russia, you can leave most of your money to your children and make them rich, too. Contrary to what most Americans think, Communist Russia has no large inheritance tax. All that is exacted is a simple probate fee.

Forgotten heroes: Remember Miguel Serveto, a Spanish physician better known to us as Sertetus? Well, in the 16th century he invented the sugar-coated pill to make bitter tasting medicine palatable. Unfortunately, he couldn't sugar-coat his own fate. His unorthodox ideas on theology led to his being burned at the stake as a heretic.

Growing down: After reaching maturity, you grow down instead of up. For example, at 40 you are shorter than you were at 20, and by the time you are 60 you will have drooped another half inch in height. By the way, if you haven't also noticed this by now, there is a 50-50 chance that any of your friends has one leg shorter than the other, and one shoulder lower than the other.

History lesson: The White House hasn't been notably a launching pad to great wealth. Can you name four U.S. presidents who died broke or with an estate of no listed value? They were Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe, W.H. Harrison, and U.S. Grant. But Grant left the manuscript of his autobiography which, thanks partly to the help of Mark Twain, later earned $500,000.

Worth remembering: "Anything is easy to sell if you simply work hard enough at it."

Into each life some rain must fall. But Mother Nature is getting a fearful of it all the time. Every second of the year, the National Geographic Society estimates, some 16 million tons of water fall to earth or into the seas throughout the world.

It was Harry Emerson Fosdick who observed, "It is magnificent to grow old, if one keeps young."

Horoscope Forecast

THURSDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although the early part of the day can be utilized to advantage by a calm, steady and cheerful approach to your goals and aims, the afternoon and evening find you all too apt to be in an argumentative frame of mind which could cause you to miss out where it means the most to you by stirring up plenty of opposition. Ignore others' anger.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Do that shopping and handle correspondence in the a.m., and then make sure in p.m. you do not lose your temper, or you can lose a fine pal. Much care in motion is imperative. Driving can be particularly hazardous.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Any interest in financial affairs should be handled in a.m. Be prudent tonight. Take care you are not more extravagant than you can easily afford now. Think along more constructive lines.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan time for improving health and good looks so you gain favors easily and can feel sure of yourself when dealing with others. Out to the social affairs you like, but be very cautious. Do nothing to jeopardize your reputation.

MOON CHILDRE N (June 22 to July 21) You feel there is pressure around you which you cannot do anything about, but if you relax and look at the matter objectively, you can accomplish a great deal. Keep your cool though you feel like throwing things.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Ideal morning to set up appointments with good friends for whatever your mutual purposes. Forget that aim that is not rational and be safe. A perfect evening for having fun socially with congenials.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can rid yourself of responsibilities easily now provided you do not bump up against irate higher-ups. Steer clear of them. Not a good day to do that civic work which could prove disappointing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Look at new situations and conditions that arise today with a practical eye and they will benefit you, but if you are merely visionary, they vanish. Find right data you need at proper sources. Work tonight, too.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have some leftover duties to attend to, although it is in your mind to go out for pleasure, so be sure to do these first. That hunch you have is faulty, so do not follow it. Steer clear of trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you are too blunt with a partner, you can certainly start a big argument, so use diplomacy instead. Handling that civic matter conscientiously brings excellent results. You are a gracious person; show it socially in p.m. especially.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have excellent talents and can get all that special work behind you with speed and efficiency now, others are in no mood to give you assistance, so do not ask. Don't get bogged down with details for best results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Just so long as you get into proven entertainment activities, you can have a delightful time at them today. Do not pressure others into going with you. Work some on that particular product you have in mind.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Back close ties instead of annoying them and make everything much better at residence, bring greater happiness. Get rid of causes of tension. Fix faulty appliances, but get rid of whatever is dangerous, unrepairable.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who will be a born inventor, a mechanical genius, and can make much money with new articles that the public in general will gladly buy, even in these realm of toys. Send to the right kind of schools that will be helpful along such lines. The mind is a logical one and the love life is apt to be quite totrpid, so give the finest ethical and spiritual training possible early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Is it possible for a young child to have a deficiency of the thyroid gland?

Mrs. J.M., Ala.

Dear Mrs. M.:

A very special type of deficiency of the thyroid may occur early in infancy or in young children. This may be due to a birth abnormality or because of an inability of the child to properly utilize iodine in the water. Less common is the absence of iodine in the drinking water in inland parts of the country.

Hypothyroidism in children is sometimes referred to as Cretinism, a very complex abnormality.

Deficient thyroid activity is usually recognized early and can be actively treated with thyroid extract and increased iodine.

What is meant by a lazy colon? Is it caused by a special disease and can it be cancerous?

Mr. B. V. L., Wis.

Dear Mr. L.:

A "lazy" colon is a non-medical term which describes sluggishness or inactivity of the large intestine. Patients who are confined to bed and invalided by disease may sometimes develop marked constipation because the bowel isn't functioning normally.

The condition, though rarely seen in the young, is most common in the elderly. There are a number of drugs that can stimulate the activity of the large intestines and reduce the unpleasant sense of fullness associated with inactive or "lazy" colons. A diet rich in fruit and vegetables and with an increased intake of water is beneficial. Mild laxatives prescribed by a doctor can reduce the symptoms caused by prolonged constipation.

We have two parrots. Now we have a newborn child and we worry about the possibility of parrot fever disease. Is it necessary for us to get rid of the birds?

Mr. and Mrs. R. H., Ark. Dear Mr. and Mrs. H.:

Psittacosis, or parrot fever, is an infection that resembles pneumonia in the human. It is caused by a virus harbored in the intestines of parrots and other birds. It was once thought that parrot fever could only be transmitted to humans by a bite from an infected animal. Now it is suspected that dust from the feathers or the cages of infected birds may be a factor.

Certainly I would keep the newborn child separated from the birds for the child's

JOHN CHAMBERLAIN IENNE, SWITZERLAND — In all the big things — automobiles, supersonic planes, ship building, generators — it is obvious that West Europe no longer fears the U.S.: the Frenchman Servan Schreiber's bogey of the "technology gap," as set forth several years ago in his "The American Challenge," has completely disappeared in every large area of life. And as in the big things, so it is in the small — in Swiss watchmaking, for example.

The Swiss are unduly touchy about stories in the American press that have predicted the collapse of whole villages in western Switzerland that have depended for their livelihood on exports of the old-fashioned mechanical watch. According to the gloomy prognostications, 50,000 Swiss watchmakers are due to lose their jobs once the new battery-operated electronic watches take over.

This assumes, of course, that the Japanese, the Russians and the Americans will grab the markets with the tuning fork watch, the quartz crystal watch, the "solid state" watch, the digital watch and other advanced time pieces that lose or gain as little as a few seconds a year. But the assumption, so the Swiss say, is based on unrealistic economics: if the "solid state" watch, as made in the U.S.A., sells at $50, there is still plenty of room for the mechanical watch.

Moreover, there are places in the world — Africa, Southeast Asia — where the simplicity of the mechanical watch, which does not require battery renewal, will create a market for itself for many decades to come. This year 160 million mechanical watches will be manufactured as compared to four or five million electronic watches. So, like the bicycle makers who have not been displaced by the automobile, the deft-fingered women who put together the mechanical watch are not in danger of immediate starvation.

This is not the main reason for Swiss optimism, however. At the invitation of the Swiss watch industry, I joined a group of American journalists in Bienne, Le Locle and other Swiss horological towns to see what the Swiss are doing to meet even the most advanced electronic competition from Japan and the U.S. I can't pretend to any authority on comparative manufacturing costs (the fact that Hattori of Japan, which makes 14 million watch units a year to take the Number One place in the world, would argue that Japanese labor costs are almost frighteningly low.) But it is obvious that the Swiss have made prodigious leaps in automating the most delicate watchmaking manufacturing sequences.

We saw Omega and Tissot operations in pretty Swiss villages in the Lake Neuchatel region, we visited the Swiss

Medical Exchange Program Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has asked Dr. C. A. Hoffman, president of the American Medical Association, to work out a medical exchange program between the U.S. and the Soviet Union.

factories of Bulova (which is a n American concern with Swiss affiliation), we spent an afternoon with a company that turns crude natural quartz into artificial quartz into delicate vibrating crystals, and it was apparent from the spread between hand-labor assembly lines and the most advanced automated lines that the Swiss can do for electronic watchmaking what the Cross Company of Detroit, for example, did for automating the production of the cylinder block for U.S. automobiles.

I had seen huge Bullard turret lathes in America perform ten matching operations at once.

The Swiss, with an exquisite miniature of the monstrous Bullard, perform ten machining operations at a clip on a watch part that is lost in the palm of your hand.

The women are still there on the assembly lines, inserting screws whose threads are too small to be glimpsed by the naked eye and snipping off strands of wire that are no thicker than the most delicate human hair. But the employees on the factory floor in the most advanced plants are spaced out: the "technology gap" between the Japanese, the U.S. and the Swiss in the making of the most advanced watches can't be very significant.

So Servan Schreiber's idea, or notion, that Europe has a long way to go to catch up to America takes another beating as you watch the "ebauche," or watch movement container base, being machined in a sea of floating oil. No one nation, it is apparent, can long maintain a monopoly grip on new methods of production. As one of the Swiss watchmaking experts who showed us around said, "Everybody cooks with water" — meaning that there are no eternal secrets.

The important thing for Americans to learn is that they are going to have to run twice as fast as they are now running if they are to stay alive in a competitive world. The "American challenge" is no more.

On Monday, the Senate opened the legislative week by passing a package of anti-crime proposals. The most unusual item was a bill providing that the government will compensate the innocent victims of certain violent crimes. Compensation payments of up to $50,000 per victim will be administered by a Violent Crimes Compensation Board.

Companion measures also included a new national life insurance and death compensation program for police and firemen, a one year extension of grants to the states under the Law Enforcement Assistance Act, a provision making it a federal crime to kill or injure policemen or firemen and legal tools against cargo thefts and racketeering in legitimate business. There is also a requirement that states receiving federal law enforcement assistance grants must establish narcotic and alcohol treatment programs in prisons and probation and parole programs.

The House began its week by passing an important conservation bill calling for an immediate moratorium on the killing of Polar Bears which are rapidly becoming an endangered species due to over hunting.

The original Labor-HEW Appropriations Bill was vetoed by President Nixon in August because it exceeded the budget request by $1.76 billion. The House then failed to muster the two-thirds majority needed to override the White House decision.

Consequently, the Appropriations Committee considered and reported a compromise bill which, though providing more than the budget requested, was for almost $1 billion less than the vetoed legislation. By a record vote of 324 yeas and 51 nays, the House passed the reduced spending measure.

An important amendment was offered on the House floor and adopted that exempts small firms employing fifteen or less persons from complying with the controversial Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970. I voted for the amendment and the bill on final passage.

In 1967, Congress created the National Commission on Product Safety to study consumer protection laws. It economic and diplomatic return found that federal law presently consists of a series of measures against this measure.

On Thursday, the house engaged in its annual legislative battle over the always controversial Foreign Aid Appropriations Bill. This year's measure provides $2.7 billion for direct and indirect economic and military assistance to certain allies, friendly nations or governments we are attempting to influence. Although the bill, as reported, was $400 million below the amount requested by the Administration, it is still $500 million above last year's figure.

I have long been of the opinion that a great deal of the billions upon billions of dollars that we have spent since the end of World War II have provided an extremely limited consumer protection laws. It economic and diplomatic return found that federal law presently consists of a series of measures against this measure.

NEW YORK (AP) — Certain assumptions that may not be provable as facts nevertheless become accepted as if they were true by the mass of ordinary individual and even by their governments.

In this category may be placed the widely accepted assumption that the United States is running the worst rate of inflation of any of the large industrial nations.

Even during the worst of the inflationary period that began in the late 1960s — in February 1970 when the consumer price index briefly reached an increase rate of 6.4 per cent — the claim had to be highly qualified.

Now that statement is simply false. Japan, West Germany, France and the United Kingdom, to name a few, reported higher inflation rates than the United States in the second quarter, and in all but West Germany the rate was getting worse.

Prices in Japan rose in the April-May-June quarter at an annual rate of 7.5 per cent, in West Germany at 4.3 per cent, in France at 5.7 per cent and in the United Kingdom at 7.5 per cent. The U.S. rate was 3.3 per cent.

Still, so sharp were foreign charges that the American government mismanaged its economy, that many Americans still retain a feeling of guilt. The standard claim was that the United States exported inflation.

To some degree this may have been true, because unlike any other nation, the United States has an economy so large, and exports so much of its product, that domestic economic policies have a worldwide economic impact.

But in the past few years the United States has imposed much greater discipline on the economy than had existed in the mid-1960s. Prices have been under controls for close to a year. The dollar has been devalued.

Another claim, this one a forecast repeated so often that it came to be widely accepted as inevitable, was that the stock market, as measured by the Dow-Jones industrial average, was bound to exceed 1,000 points this year.

This forecast was based on evidence that the economy was improving, and that blue chip companies whose shares are included in the average, would be among the chief beneficiaries.

The fact is that these companies have benefited. But their price per share hasn't risen proportionately.

Among the reasons being given: Investors are still afraid that the economic recovery could be untracked by inflation, which might force tight money policies again; political uncertainty; disenchantment of small investors, especially with mutual funds.

Even the optimists aren't taking loudly any more about piercing the 1,000 "barrier." And it is safe to say that those who are still spilling that line have a much smaller audience these days.

Compulsory Aid

France has a law for a situation which causes Americans a great deal of conscience-searching. This is the seemingly widespread tendency not "to become involved" in others' misfortunes, even at a time when help might be a matter of life or death.

Everyone can remember reading of incidents where a victim of a hit-run driver lay untended as a companion signaled passing motorists in vain.

In France it is a crime for one to abstain voluntarily "from giving assistance to a person in danger that, without risk for himself or for others, he could have given either by personal action or by calling for help."

The penalty is a month to three years in prison, a fine of $50 to $2,000, or both.

The French decided long ago that those who choose not to be involved in a humane action should face involvement with the law instead. A similar law would be an ironic development for Americans. Fear of involvement in litigation is why many find it convenient to ignore fellow men in trouble.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Sugar, which some scientists think our diet would be better without, was for several centuries a luxury enjoyed usually only by very wealthy people and members of royalty. In 14th century England two pounds of sugar were worth one stout pig.

If you woke up in a strange place and didn't know where you were, you could at least find out whether you were north or south of the equator by looking at a climbing vine. North of the equator, these vines twine from left to right, south of the equator they twine from right to left.

If you become rich in Soviet Russia, you can leave most of your money to your children and make them rich, too. Contrary to what most Americans think, Communist Russia has no large inheritance tax. All that is exacted is a simple probate fee.

Forgotten heroes: Remember Miguel Serveto, a Spanish physician better known to us as Sertetus? Well, in the 16th century he invented the sugar-coated pill to make bitter tasting medicine palatable. Unfortunately, he couldn't sugar-coat his own fate. His unorthodox ideas on theology led to his being burned at the stake as a heretic.

Growing down: After reaching maturity, you grow down instead of up. For example, at 40 you are shorter than you were at 20, and by the time you are 60 you will have drooped another half inch in height. By the way, if you haven't also noticed this by now, there is a 50-50 chance that any of your friends has one leg shorter than the other, and one shoulder lower than the other.

History lesson: The White House hasn't been notably a launching pad to great wealth. Can you name four U.S. presidents who died broke or with an estate of no listed value? They were Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe, W.H. Harrison, and U.S. Grant. But Grant left the manuscript of his autobiography which, thanks partly to the help of Mark Twain, later earned $500,000.

Worth remembering: "Anything is easy to sell if you simply work hard enough at it."

Into each life some rain must fall. But Mother Nature is getting a faceful of it all the time. Every second of the year, the National Geographic Society estimates, some 16 million tons of water fall to earth or into the seas throughout the world.

It was Harry Emerson Fosdick who observed, "It is magnificent to grow old, if one keeps young."

THURSDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although the early part of the day can be utilized to advantage by a calm, steady and cheerful approach to your goals and aims, the afternoon and evening find you all too apt to be in an argumentative frame of mind which could cause you to miss out where it means the most to you by stirring up plenty of opposition. Ignore others' anger.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Do that shopping and handle correspondence in the a.m., and then make sure in p.m. you do not lose your temper, or you can lose a fine pal. Much care in motion is imperative. Driving can be particularly hazardous.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Any interest in financial affairs should be handled in a.m. Be prudent tonight. Take care you are not more extravagant than you can easily afford now. Think along more constructive lines.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan time for improving health and good looks so you gain favors easily and can feel sure of yourself when dealing with others. Out to the social affairs you like, but be very cautious. Do nothing to jeopardize your reputation.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You feel there is pressure around you which you cannot do anything about, but if you relax and look at the matter objectively, you can accomplish a great deal. Keep your cool though you feel like throwing things.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Ideal morning to set up appointments with good friends for whatever your mutual purposes. Forget that aim that is not rational and be safe. A perfect evening for having fun socially with congenials.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can rid yourself of responsibilities easily now provided you do not bump up against irate higher-ups. Steer clear of them. Not a good day to do that civic work which could prove disappointing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Look at new situations and conditions that arise today with a practical eye and they will benefit you, but if you are merely visionary, they vanish. Find right data you need at proper sources. Work tonight, too.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have some leftover duties to attend to, although it is in your mind to go out for pleasure, so be sure to do those first. That hunch you have is faulty, so do not follow it. Steer clear of trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you are too blunt with a partner, you can certainly start a big argument, so use diplomacy instead. Handling that civic matter conscientiously brings excellent results. You are a gracious person; show it socially in p.m. especially.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have excellent talents and can get all that special work behind you with speed and efficiency now, others are in no mood to give you assistance, so do not ask. Don't get bogged down with details for best results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Just so long as you get into proven entertainment activities, you can have a delightful time at them today. Do not pressure others into going with you. Work some on that particular product you have in mind.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Back close ties instead of annoying them and make everything much better at residence, bring greater happiness. Get rid of causes of tension. Fix faulty appliances, but get rid of whatever is dangerous, unrepairable.

In 1967, Congress created the National Commission on Product Safety to study provided consumer protection laws. It found that federal law presently consists of a series of catalogical programs, state and local law is a hodgepodge of tragedy inspired responses, and market forces were insufficient to induce certain manufacturers to produce safe products. As a direct response to their study, the House on Wednesday passed a far reaching law to create a new independent federal commission to regulate consumer products in order to reduce or prevent product related injuries.

Under the bill, a "consumer product" is any article produced for use or enjoyment in the home, school, or work place. Coverage is comprehensive except for the following excluded items: tobacco products, motor vehicles, economic poisons, firearms and ammunition, medicines, foods, and industrial products.

A five member zconsumer Product Safety Commission is charged with the responsibility of protecting consumers from unreasonably hazardous products by promulgating standards governing performance, composition, design, construction, or packaging of such items.

The new law will prohibit the manufacture or sale of products which violate consumer protection safety standards or which have been banned by the Commission. The Commission can also require firms to repair, replace, or refund the purchase price of products in certain situations. The bill also provides civil and criminal penalties for violators, injunctive relief, damage suits by injured persons, and the enforcement of product safety rules by private individuals.

On Thursday, the house engaged in its annual legislative battle over the always controversial Foreign Aid Appropriations Bill. This year's measure provides $2.7 billion for direct and indirect economic and military assistance to certain allies, friendly nations or governments we are attempting to influence. I have long been of the opinion that a great deal of the billions upon billions of dollars that we have spent since the end of World War II have provided an extremely limited economic and diplomatic return to the U.S. I, therefore, voted against this measure.

The fact is that these companies have benefited. But their price per share hasn't risen proportionately.

Among the reasons being given: Investors are still afraid that the economic recovery could be untracked by inflation, which might force tight money policies again; political uncertainty; disenchantment of small investors, especially with mutual funds.

Even the optimists aren't taking loudly any more about piercing the 1,000 "barrier." And it is safe to say that those who are still spilling that line have a much smaller audience these days.

Claim Tanzania Planning Attack

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — A Ugandan military spokesman said late Tuesday that a large convoy of vehicles carrying Tanzanian troops had been spotted moving through northern Tanzania towards the Ugandan border villages of Mutukula and Kikagati.

He added, in a statement broadcast by the government radio here, that boats "suspected to be carrying troops," had also been seen heading for the eastern Ugandan town of Tororo from Musoma, on the southern shore of Lake Victoria.

The spokesman warned: "If this is another planned provocation by Tanzania, the Uganda government should not be blamed for any repercussions that might come as a result of the movement of troops from Tanzania towards Uganda."

Claim Tanzania Planning Attack

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — A Ugandan military spokesman said late Tuesday that a large convoy of vehicles carrying Tanzanian troops had been spotted moving through northern Tanzania towards the Ugandan border villages of Mutukula and Kikagati.

He added, in a statement broadcast by the government radio here, that boats "suspected to be carrying troops," had also been seen heading for the eastern Ugandan town of Tororo from Musoma, on the southern shore of Lake Victoria.

The spokesman warned: "If this is another planned provocation by Tanzania, the Uganda government should not be blamed for any repercussions that might come as a result of the movement of troops from Tanzania towards Uganda."

Coliseum Closed To General Public

ROME (AP) — The Coliseum, the majestic 1,900-year-old symbol of Imperial Rome, will be closed to the public because of the danger of falling masonry, it was announced today.

Visitors will be barred from getting too close to the 187-foot elliptical structure. A fence will be erected around it to keep people 30 feet away.

Peking Talks Hit Snag

PEKING (AP) — Japanese newsmen close to Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka's delegation said today that unexpected difficulties of an undisclosed nature had cropped up in the restoring Chinese-Japanese relations.

The report could not be confirmed, because both Tanaka and Chinese Premier Chou En-lai have agreed not to disclose any substantive material about their summit talks until they are concluded. A communique is expected to be issued Friday.

Some Japanese reporters, however, often obtain confidential information in the exclusive daily briefings they receive from the chief cabinet secretary, Susumu Nakaido, as members of the tightly knit prime minister's press club.

A Japanese spokesman on Tuesday described the second summit session as having been carried out "energetically and seriously." Asked whether the wording meant there had been a change in the cordial atmosphere of the first meeting, the spokesman said it did not.

A major issue in the talks is Japan's relationship with Taiwan after recognition of Peking. Although willing to break relations with the Nationalist-held island, the Japanese wish to continue their billion-dollar-a-year trade with it.

Fear Red Bloodbath In Vietnam

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Stories of atrocities in Communist-occupied portions of South Vietnam have reinforced American fears of a bloodbath if the Communists take over the entire country.

"Anytime you pursue the hard revolutionary line you're going to have bloodbath," said one American who investigates stories of atrocities. "You have to knock off the old order to make way for the new. In this respect the Viet Cong are as nasty as ever."

Stories told by refugees from the occupied areas include one of 40 civilians in Quang Ngai Province being locked in a building and blown up with dynamite because they were considered "unfit for indoctrination."

In other cases, wives and children have watched their men shot in dozens following "people's trials" in Binh Dinh and Kontum provinces. Their crime reportedly was lack of enthusiasm for the "liberation" by Hanoi's troops.

U.S. officials said they are particularly concerned about what they term "spite killings" of civilians.

"Spite enters into it when you get a guerrilla who's lived in the jungle for five years and suddenly finds himself occupying a town where everyone owns radios and Hondas. There'll be a lot more guilty verdicts in the people's trials," the American officer said.

"The North Vietnamese are supposed to be better disciplined, more well-behaved, but they're becoming downright spiteful to. They come South expecting to be greeted as liberators and find everyone running away. They get mad and shoot up some rice farmers. Sheer spite."

Commanders of Hanoi's invasion force that crossed the demilitarized zone March 30 saw three-quarters of the people of Quang Tri Province flee before they realized there might be no one left to liberate. So they cut Highway 1 south of the provincial capital and slaughtered hundreds of civilians intermingled with fleeing military convoys.

The more than 1,500 youths focused attention on new developments and heard several distinguished scientists speak on career opportunities. Sponsors of the conference were the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, The Ohio State University, and the Ohio Agricultural Council.

who participated in the April ambushes said he had been told by his officers that "anyone fleeing south was my enemy."

It's estimated that about 400,000 South Vietnamese civilians are living in Communist-controlled areas.

Since the offensive began, authorities have reported confirmation of 2,558 civilian assassinations, 9,313 abductions and 5,277 civilians wounded in terrorist incidents.

Miss Cheryl Ann Noble Weds Wayne Barry Adams

MR. AND MRS. WAYNE BARRY ADAMS

Chillicothe Church of Christ in Christian Union was the scene of the ceremony on Sept. 2nd at 2:30 p.m. when Miss Cheryl Ann Noble became the bride of Mr. Wayne Barry Adams.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton D. Nobel, Route 1, Bainbridge, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Adams, 116 Parkview Ave., Circleville.

The Rev. Donald Hurley officiated the ceremony. Mrs. Jo Anne Boatman provided organ music for the occasion and Mr. Oscar M. Litton, uncle of the bride, sang special selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length gown of ivory French silk organza with lantern sleeves, pleated bodice and upper sleeves, empire waistline, raised pleated collar and detachable train trimmed with lace. Her veil of candlelight illusion, caught to a headpiece of lace petals, was splashed with lace flowers and flowed gracefully the length of the train. She carried a bouquet of white roses, German asterick, deep purple and lavender star flowers, and miniature white carnations.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Linda Jayne Leach, sister of the bride, was in a floor length lavender polyester crepe gown with a scoop neckline, sheer empire bodice and full long sleeves. She carried a bouquet of purple and pink pompons with deep purple streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Vickie Lynn Adams, sister of the groom, Circleville; Mrs. Richard Massie, Columbus; Miss Cheryl Crites and Miss Caryl Crites, Bourneville. They were gowned identically to the honor attendant and carried matching bouquets with lavender streamers.

Mr. Thomas Munson of Circleville was best man. Ushers were Mr. Bruce Wolford, Columbus; Mr. David Noble, brother of the bride, Bainbridge; Mr. Roger Grigg, Circleville and Mr. Richard Massie, Columbus.

A reception at Holiday Inn followed the ceremony. The couple left for a wedding trip to Kentucky and a visit to Mammoth Cave, and now reside at Apt. A-305, Mill St. Apts., Athens, Ohio.

The bride is a graduate of Paint Valley High School and is a junior at Ohio University majoring in Elementary Education.

Mr. Adams is a graduate of Circleville High School, served four years with the United States Navy and is presently a junior at Ohio University majoring in Public Relations.

New Zealanders Work To Salvage Shipwreck

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP)—Four years after the ferry Wahine sank in Wellington Harbor with 51 dead, divers are still clearing the submerged wreck from the shipping channel.

Carrying 730 passengers and crew, the near-new ship foundered in a violent storm April 10, 1968, only a few hundred yards from suburban harborside homes.

Plans to refloat the vessel with plastic foam and re-sink it at sea were abandoned when a second fierce storm broke the wreck in two.

Working in 60 feet of water, divers have salvaged 5,000 tons of steel as scrap metal. The remaining 1,500 tons, including heavy engine machinery, will not be cleared before early 1973.

Wrong Listing Brings Suit By Physician

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A physician who practices obstetrics and gynecology has filed a $100,000 lawsuit against Southern New England Telephone Co., claiming his medical specialty was listed wrong in the telephone directory.

Dr. Leonard H. Zamore of Woodbridge claims in the Superior Court suit filed Monday that he was listed under the heading "osteopath" in the latest directory's yellow pages. An osteopath treats disease by manipulating related parts of the body.

$60 Telephone Installation Charge Pondered By AT&T

BOSTON (AP) — The president of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. claims the cost of installing the average telephone is $60. And he says the giant utility is thinking about charging consumers about that much for the service.

Robert D. Lilley said Monday that AT&T is studying the possibility of raising rates for installing and moving telephones to bring charges in line with costs.

Those charges should be borne principally by the consumer, Lilley said. The current installation cost is $5 to $10, he said.

Lilley drew immediate support from AT&T Board Chairman John D. deButts, who told a meeting of Boston security analysts that telephone customers in Great Britain pay between 25 and 35 pounds ($60 to $80) for phone installation, while in Japan the price of a phone is $300.

Lilley, who appeared with deButts and other top AT&T officials at the meeting, said the company is also seeking to impose a charge for directory assistance service as a means of stopping consumers from burdening information operators.

The number of calls to directory assistance is increasing almost twice as fast as the number of new telephones, he said, and a recent study in New York City indicates that 50 per cent of those calls are made by 5 per cent of the customers.

Therefore, Lilley said, AT&T is studying the possibility of a monthly limit of five directory assistance calls per customer.

Beyond that, he said, a 15-cent additional charge would be made for each call. Such an action, Lilley predicted, would cut directory assistance calls by 30 per cent.

DeButts, questioned about earnings, said AT&T hopes for a "significant improvement" this year in earnings per share.

Last week the company announced earnings of $1.10 per share for the quarter ending Aug. 31, an increase of 15 cents over the same quarter in 1971.

23 Reported Missing In Capsized Vessel

SEOUL (AP) — Twenty three persons were reported missing after their cargo ship capsized and sank off Kusan, 110 miles south of Seoul, Monday night, maritime police reported.

The mishap occurred after the 20-ton vessel sailing from the port city to an isolated island off the west coast reported a leak, police said.

FOWL AND VEGETABLE COMBO
This delicious combination of chicken and broccoli is easy to make as it is good to eat. Double the recipe and freeze one casserole for a busy day ahead. Serve with chilled fruit salad and crusty Betty Brown Vienna Bread.

- CHICKEN DIVAN
- | | |
|-------------------------------|------------------------|
| 1 Whole Frying Chicken, Split | 3 Tbsp. Flour |
| 2 Cups Water | Food Club Milk |
| Salt and Pepper | 3 Tbsp. Sherry |
| 1 Lb. Fresh Broccoli, Cleaned | Grated Parmesan Cheese |
| 2 Tbsp. Gaylord Butter | |

Wash chicken. Simmer chicken, covered in water with 1 teaspoon salt for 45 minutes, or until very tender. Save broth. Remove meat from bones in large pieces; then cut into long slices. Cook broccoli until just tender; drain and put in shallow casserole. Melt butter in top part of double boiler; stir in flour. Measure chicken broth and add enough milk to make 2 cups. Stir in butter and flour. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until thickened. Add salt and pepper, to taste, and sherry. Cover broccoli with chicken, then with sauce. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in pre-heated oven (400 degrees F) for about 12 minutes. Makes 4-6 servings.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

What's Really Bothering You?

DEAR ABBY: For 18 years I've tried to get this point across to my husband, but he doesn't listen. He follows your advice to the letter, and if he reads this with your comments it will help our marriage. We seldom go out socially, and when I mention a night out, he says, "Okay, Honey,

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

The cold front which pushed south across northern Ohio overnight was expected to push southward out of the state this afternoon.

Showers triggered by the front will continue in extreme southern Ohio through early tonight.

Rain was extensive across the state Tuesday, ranging up to .71-inch at Toledo and .65-inch at Akron.

Temperatures at dawn today ranged from a low of 58 at Toledo into the 60s elsewhere across the state. Highs today were forecast in the 70s, but temperatures were then expected to drop to the chilly upper 40s and 50s tonight.

Thursday will be partly cloudy and warmer with highs in the 70s and low 80s and a lingering chance of showers in the south.

FORECASTS

Partly cloudy north and central tonight, variable cloudiness with a chance of showers south. Lows in the upper 40s and 50s. Partly cloudy and a little warmer Thursday with a chance of showers south. Highs in the 70s and low 80s.

WEST LAKE SHORE NORTHWEST INLAND—Clear and cool tonight. Lows in the upper 40s and low 50s. Partly cloudy and mild Thursday. Highs in the 70s.

WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL EAST CENTRAL—Partly cloudy tonight and cool. Lows in the low to mid 50s. Variable cloudiness and warmer Thursday. Highs in the mid to upper 70s.

SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST—Variable cloudiness tonight with a chance of rain or drizzle and cooler. Lows in the mid to upper 50s. Cloudy and warmer with a chance of showers Thursday. Highs in the upper 70s and low 80s.

Factional Fighting Hits South Africa

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—Armed police with dogs today patrolled the Johannesburg produce market area where seven Zulu tribesmen were killed in factional fighting Monday.

It was believed more trouble could break out between the groups, whose feud dates back 18 months to the rape of several Zulu girls in the Zulu homeland.

Notice of Public Hearing of Application to Rezone certain real estate.

Notice is hereby given that application has been filed with the Walnut Township Zoning Commission to rezone certain real estate as follows:

Application to amend and rezone from FR (farm-residence) to commercial-recreation classification certain real estate owned by Larry Stanley consisting of approximately 62 acres located on Walnut Madison road in Walnut Township.

Hearing on the said application will be held before the Walnut Township Zoning Commission on October 5th 1972 at 7:30 p.m. at the Walnut Township House.

After such hearing the matter will be referred for further determination to the board of Trustees of Walnut Township Zoning Commission. Gerald Weiler, Sec. Connie L. Bircher Zoning Inspector

Speed Reading Course Set To Begin In Circleville

Arrangements have been made by the American Reading Foundation of Columbus to conduct a 21 hour course in speed reading. The course is open to anyone above the age of 13 and guarantees every graduate to triple their present reading rate with a substantial increase in comprehension.

After the seven week program a person can read any average length book in less than an hour and understand it better. In addition to speed reading the course also emphasizes improved study techniques, better test taking skills, and increased concentration and retention abilities.

The course requires a person to attend one class per week on the evening of their choice. For those who would like more information, with-lets' go! You order theater tickets to whatever you want to see, and YOU make reservations for dinner wherever YOU want to eat. Press my such-a-color shirt and pick up my suit, and be sure the gas tank is filled so we won't have to stop for gas."

Abby, by the time I have done all that and have fed the kids, my evening out is no longer special. Then he gets disgusted because I'm not bubbling over with enthusiasm when we go out the door. The last six months I have told him I have changed my mind, and don't feel like going, and that makes him angry.

Please tell him once come home and say, "I have tickets to a play on THIS or THAT night, also reservations to dine at THIS restaurant, let the kids eat peanut butter, just pretty yourself up and let's go."

Maybe then I could generate some enthusiasm. Thanks.

DULL LUSTE

DEAR DULL: Are you feeling well, dear? Maybe you need a checkup. As I see it, ordering tickets to a play of your choice, and making dinner reservations at your favorite restaurant, and pressing a shirt and picking up a suit and filling a gas tank isn't all that much work. Now, what's really bothering you?

DEAR ABBY: I have been employed for two years as a bookkeeper for a small used car establishment. I am happily married and have three children, all school age.

My problem is the sales manager where I work. He is 30 years my senior and thinks he is Casanova. At first I could handle his remarks and keep him in his place, but it's gotten to the point where he's got to kissy-face and touchy-body every time he comes into the office. He always knows when my boss will be out, and that's when he tries this stuff. I'd die of embarrassment if anyone ever walked in and saw him being so friendly, and my nerves are shot just worrying about it.

I've tried calling him "Dad" and "Gramps" but to no avail. I love my job and will do anything short of quitting to solve my problem.

BETTY THE BOOKKEEPER DEAR BETTY: Tell Casanova that if he doesn't knock off the kiss-face and touchy-body, you will tell the boss. And if the old geezer gets out of line again-do it!

Report State Doing Well In Four Seasons Recovery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William Brown believes Ohio has done well in its efforts to recover a $4 million loan made illegally to the financially-troubled Four Seasons Nursing Centers, Inc., of Oklahoma City.

Under an agreement he helped negotiate, Brown said Ohio will get more than $1.3 million in cash plus stock from the firm, which is being reorganized under federal bankruptcy laws.

"We are getting hard assets for about one-third of our claim," Brown said. "No other claimants are getting that."

The settlement must be approved by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and a federal judge in Oklahoma City. A public hearing has been scheduled Nov. 16 in Oklahoma City.

Brown said Ohio would receive $1,375,000 in cash following the sale of Four Seasons properties in Canton and Dayton.

To make up the difference in the $4 million debt, he said, the state would receive one share of stock in a new company, called Anta, Inc., for each $7 outstanding.

Four Seasons was involved in the Statehouse loan scandal in 1970, when the state exceeded its $50 million limit on paper investments. The loan to Four Seasons later was declared illegal.

Anta has agreed to sell a Canton nursing home and about nine acres vacant commercial land in Dayton to provide the cash. Brown said Ohio is guaranteed the cash even if the property sales bring less than $1.3 million.

While Anta is telling the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission the book value of its stock should be about $5.73 a share, that part of the deal is something of a gamble according to Asst. Atty. Gen. George Jenkins.

"It could be worth $80 a share or it could be worth 10 cents a share," he said. "That's the chance you have to take."

Since the state is banned by the constitution from holding stock, the shares in Anta will be held and sold over a two-year period by an Oklahoma City bank to be named by the bankruptcy referee.

Brown negotiated the settlement for State Treasurer Gertrude Donahey and State Auditor Joseph Ferguson. He said both Mrs. Donahey and Ferguson had agreed to the proposal.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

What's Really Bothering You?

DEAR ABBY: For 18 years I've tried to get this point across to my husband, but he doesn't listen. He follows your advice to the letter, and if he reads this with your comments it will help our marriage.

We seldom go out socially, and when I mention a night out, he says, "Okay, Honey, lets' go! You order theater tickets to whatever you want to see, and YOU make reservations for dinner wherever YOU want to eat. Press my such-a-color shirt and pick up my suit, and be sure the gas tank is filled so we won't have to stop for gas."

Abby, by the time I have done all that and have fed the kids, my evening out is no longer special. Then he gets disgusted because I'm not bubbling over with enthusiasm when we go out the door. The last six months I have told him I have changed my mind, and don't feel like going, and that makes him angry.

Please tell him once come home and say, "I have tickets to a play on THIS or THAT night, also reservations to dine at THIS restaurant, let the kids eat peanut butter, just pretty yourself up and let's go."

Maybe then I could generate some enthusiasm. Thanks.

DULL LUSTE

DEAR DULL: Are you feeling well, dear? Maybe you need a checkup. As I see it, ordering tickets to a play of your choice, and making dinner reservations at your favorite restaurant, and pressing a shirt and picking up a suit and filling a gas tank isn't all that much work. Now, what's really bothering you?

DEAR ABBY: I have been employed for two years as a bookkeeper for a small used car establishment. I am happily married and have three children, all school age.

My problem is the sales manager where I work. He is 30 years my senior and thinks he is Casanova. At first I could handle his remarks and keep him in his place, but it's gotten to the point where he's got to kissy-face and touchy-body every time he comes into the office.

He always knows when my boss will be out, and that's when he tries this stuff. I'd die of embarrassment if anyone ever walked in and saw him being so friendly, and my nerves are shot just worrying about it.

I've tried calling him "Dad" and "Grams" but to no avail. I love my job and will do anything short of quitting to solve my problem.

BETTY THE BOOKKEEPER
DEAR BETTY: Tell Casanova that if he doesn't knock off the kiss-face and touchy-body, you will tell the boss. And if the old geezer gets out of line again—do it!

Speed Reading Course Set To Begin In Circleville

Arrangements have been made by the American Reading Foundation of Columbus to conduct a 21 hour course in speed reading. The course is open to anyone above the age of 13 and guarantees every graduate to triple their present reading rate with a substantial increase in comprehension.

After the seven week program a person can read any average length book in less than an hour and understand it better. In addition to speed reading the course also emphasizes improved study techniques, better test taking skills, and increased concentration and retention abilities.

The course requires a person to attend one class per week on the evening of their choice. For those who would like more information, without obligation to enroll, a series of FREE one hour orientation lectures have been scheduled.

These meetings are free to the public and the course will be explained in complete details including entrance requirements, classroom procedures, tuition, class schedule and location. You need to attend only one of the meetings whichever is most convenient for you. These free one hour orientations will be held as follows:

Tues. Sept. 26 at 7:30 P.M., Wed. Sept. 27 at 7:30 P.M., Thurs. Sept. 28 at 7:30 P.M., Fri. Sept. 29 at 7:30 P.M. Location: 151 E. Franklin St., Circleville.

This course is also available to industry and other groups upon request. (adv.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Backstage at the most famous country music show in the world is not hectic, not indifferent, but relaxed, unhurried and friendly.

There is virtually no tension as the Grand Ole Opry opens, foreshadowed only by a few minutes of guitar and fiddle tuning. It is a friendly get-together, almost like a big family reunion, complete with entertainment.

The stars, the top names in the country field whose photographs are taped on the walls of country music night spots all over Nashville, stand with their wives or talk with other performers. This is their home.

Among them during the last show Saturday night were Marty Robbins, Roy Acuff, Stringbean, the Wilburn Brothers, Sam McGee and Grandpa Jones.

All ages, all sizes and all styles wander freely behind the curtain, most with guitars in hand. A young guitar picker with long hair and wearing jeans stands next to Grandpa Jones, the spectacled mainstay of the Opry. None seems out of place.

The audience is happy. They have come to see their friends, the performers, to clap their hands and hear the music they love. They demand nothing;

Views On TV - Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — It's been slightly less than three years since Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's accusation that many network television reporters were biased against President Nixon.

On a special edition of "NBC Reports" Tuesday night, it appeared that the question of bias has shifted to one of fairness in this presidential election year.

This time the gripes didn't come from Agnew or another administration spokesman; they came from Frank Mankiewicz, chief strategist for Sen. George McGovern's campaign.

Mankiewicz claimed that television coverage of the South Dakota Democrat had been unfair by being, among other things, overly anxious to get administration reaction to McGovern's campaign speeches.

On the same show, a top Nixon aide, William Safire, insisted the media in general "is trying to be straight and fair" in covering the campaign.

Other panelists offered their views, but the mini-debate between Safire and Mankiewicz was the real show.

Their skirmish left the impression that the GOP, for a change, is generally satisfied with media coverage of the campaign while the Democrats have grown extremely unhappy with the reporting of major newspapers and television networks.

The taped, two-part program was broadcast a day after McGovern charged that the administration has successfully intimidated the television networks in the field of broadcast journalism.

The show's second segment explored the question of whether media treatment of Sen. Thomas Eagleton's medical disclosures was fair or whether it unjustly forced McGovern to drop him as his running mate.

Eagleton was invited by NBC to appear on the program, but declined the offer. A close friend, former Sen. Joseph Tydings, D-Md., took up the cudgel for him.

Of the four panelists on this segment, the best summaries of opposing views were provided by Tydings and Benjamin C. Bradlee, executive editor of the Washington Post.

Tydings said he thought the massive, week-long coverage of the Eagleton episode produced an unfair result and ultimately "denied the American people the right to vote on the issue."

Said Bradlee: "I think reporters — or newspapers — did a first-class job. I think television did a poor job, bordering on bear-baiting. And I think the editorial response ... was so wide it's generally hard to say whether it was good or bad."

The show, capably moderated by NBC's Bill Monroe, was an absorbing hour that had one glaring deficiency — no other network correspondent was on hand to debate Bradlee, Mankiewicz or the other panelists.

Retrial Scheduled On Alioto Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A six-woman six-man jury has been chosen to hear the retrial of Mayor Joseph Alioto's $12.5-million libel suit against Cowles Communications, Inc.

U.S. District Court Judge Russell E. Smith of Billings, Mont., is hearing the case, which began Monday.

The first trial ended with a hung jury on May 15, 1970.

they do not challenge the performers to present a perfect, well-rehearsed show. They expect-and they get-honest, relaxed, sincere entertainment.

A middle-aged couple stands backstage, watching the show with the enthusiasm of first time visitors. Mr. and Mrs. James Bracewell of Doocoo, Ga. are guests of the Opry-winner.

ners of a trip to Nashville in a television-sponsored drawing.

"I'm a country music fan," says Bracewell, "and I'm converting my wife. We didn't come before because we heard stories about the long lines trying to get in."

The Bracewells' visit to the Opry isn't typical. But the distance of their journey is far from unusual for Opry-goers.

"The people in our audience come an average of 450 miles to get here," said Bud Wendell, general manager of the Opry.

"About half are here for the first time, and the rest have been here anywhere from one to 100 times before."

The audience as well as the performers make the show. The 3,000 in their seats and the 100 or so ambling around, across and behind stage amid music, dancing and advertising backdrops don't mind the informality or the old wooden floors or even the lack of air conditioning.

This is country music at its best in its oldest and best-loved home.

White House Medic Praises Acupuncture

HOUSTON (AP) — White House physician Dr. William M. Lukash has praised the potential of acupuncture.

Lukash, who accompanied President Nixon on his trip to China, told newsmen Monday he had been impressed with what he saw of acupuncture in China.

Underground Rock Festivals Proposed

LONDON (AP)—Seven giant underground tunnels, earmarked by the government and London Transport for use in the extension of the city's tube train system next year, are being sought for different uses. Youth organizations have asked officials for permission to stage pop concert and amateur dramatics in the tunnels, built during the Second World War as air raid shelters.

A youth hostel association also wants to house penniless students in the shelters during summer months. Officials are concerned over the safety of the tunnels. "There is no water, there are no toilets, little lighting and no heating," one said.

U.S. Puts Monetary Reform Plan On Table For Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States unveiled a far-reaching proposal Tuesday for revamping the world monetary system, including tough new measures to force needed currency charges and an end to the once-special role of the dollar.

Under the proposal, more flexibility would be built into the system to prevent recurring monetary crises. This would be done by allowing all currencies, including the dollar, to fluctuate widely from their fixed values.

The United States would intervene in money exchange markets, just like any other country does, buying and selling currencies to define the value of the dollar.

Gold would be eliminated as an international reserve asset. All currencies in the 124-nation monetary system would eventually be valued in terms of Special Drawing Rights, or "paper gold," the invisible reserve asset valued by mutual agreement. And SDR is now worth $1.08.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz gave details of the American plan at the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund.

It was the first specific monetary proposal to be offered.

The United States refrained from giving all the details on how penalties could be triggered. Shultz implied the proposals are subject to debate and possible compromise.

In practice, the dollar over the years became the main reserve asset of most countries, meaning that it was widely used to settle international debt. But with chronic deficits in the U.S. balance of payments, faith in the dollar began rapidly declining. The United States, in deciding to state its position on monetary reform, blunted much of the criticism that it has dragged its feet in helping to shape a new system.

Finance ministers and central bankers from 124 nations had expected a simple scenario during the annual IMF meeting: a week of general speeches ending with official appointment of the committee that will get down to details later.

But President Nixon, addressing the opening session of the IMF, Monday, disclosed that the United States is ready now with some ideas of its own. He left it to Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz to itemize the proposals.

Nixon, who suddenly brought the issue of monetary reform to a head on Aug. 15, 1971, by suspending convertibility of the dollar into gold, declared that the United States wants more than just monetary reform.

The upcoming monetary negotiations must deal with trade and investment as well, the President said, implying strongly that he seeks removal of some of the barriers erected in other countries against U.S.-made products.

3 Arrested In Scuffle With Police

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Three men were charged with trespassing following a scuffle with police after 20 men, members of the New Republic of Africa, were ordered out of a school board meeting.

The group said they came to protest the fact that no black cheerleader had been selected at Hamilton Garfield High School.

James C. Hardy, 31, of Hamilton, headed the delegation, which wore shoulder patches.

Hardy charged that the high school decision discriminated against black people in Hamilton "and we have a right to be here."

He charged the board "condoned and upheld the judges' crooked decision."

"We demand that steps be taken by the board to undo this injustice," Hardy shouted, bringing other members of the group to their feet shouting.

At this point board officials summoned police.

Hamilton Police Chief George McNally suffered a cut thumb when he was pushed after ordering the blacks out of the building, he said.

Scuffling then took place between the protesters and several police.

Hardy, Ronald Barron, 20, of Cincinnati, and a 17-year-old youth were arrested. The others left, police said.

Cool Air Dominant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cool autumn weather dominated the nation's midsection today, pushing cold air as far south as northern Texas.

Frost or freeze warnings were issued for Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and parts of South Dakota and Iowa. In contrast, warm weather prevailed in the east, south and southeast with temperatures in or near the 70s.

A storm system was developing in the Nevada-Idaho area spreading cold rain or snow over the intermountain region of the Northwest. Stockmen's warnings were in effect and travel warnings predicted snow, cold conditions.

Showers and thunderstorms were common from New England to the Gulf coast, some locally heavy. More than an inch of rain fell at Victoria, Tex., and Nashville, Tenn.

Chili Pepper, Frijole Are State Vegetables

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—The chili pepper and the frijole bean are by law the official state vegetable of New Mexico. In an August proclamation, Gov. Bruce King said that chili "has contributed its extensive source of vitamins A and C to the longevity of the life of inhabitants of the Land of Enchantment." "It has contributed," the governor's Chili Week proclamation said "to the picturesqueness of our countryside as it dries upon the roofs of adobe houses with backdrops of mountainous splendor."

City Strike In Columbus Draws Near

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mayor Tom Moody said Tuesday a threatened strike next week by 1,700 municipal workers probably would halt garbage collections in this central Ohio city of 500,000.

Moody made the remark after meeting with department heads to discuss how the city could continue to provide essential services in the event of a walkout.

"What we can operate, we will operate," he said. "What we can't, we won't."

The city's latest work offer was expected to be rejected at a meeting tonight of members of Local 1632, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Members also are expected to authorize a strike at midnight Sunday, when the current 18-month contract expires.

Warren Jennings, chief union negotiator, said if the city's offer is rejected Local 1632 will seek further bargaining talks in an effort to reach a settlement before the strike deadline arrives.

The city has offered a two-year pact providing increases of 15 to 27 cents an hour the first year and 20 to 35 cents the second. The union has asked 25 to 35 cents the first year and 30 to 35 cents the second.

City Finance Director Alvin Peterjohn said the city's latest offer is final.

Negotiators also have been unable to agree on a hazardous weather clause, which primarily affects sanitation workers, and a sick leave policy.

POWs Taking Long Way Home; New Charges Aired

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three homebound American pilots freed by North Vietnam headed for the Soviet Union from China today with an escort of U.S. peace activists and the seeds of a new controversy over Hanoi charges that spying devices are being mailed to American prisoners.

The three pilots — Navy Lt. Mark Gartley and Norris Charles, and Air Force Maj. Edward Elias — were expected to reach New York Thursday evening.

They left Peking by Aeroflot, the Soviet airline, and were due for a stop in Irkutsk, Siberia, an overnight stop and change of planes in Moscow, and another stop in Copenhagen.

Gartley's mother and Charles' wife were in the group.

The Peking-Moscow route apparently was picked to postpone until they reach the United States the moment the pilots, as servicemen on active duty, must return to military jurisdiction.

Cora Weiss, cochairman of the accompanying delegation of members of the U.S. Committee for Liaison with Families of Prisoners detained in Vietnam, disclosed the latest Hanoi charge. She said the delegation was told that packages sent prisoners have contained spying devices rigged into such items as cans of milk, candy bars and toothpaste tubes.

The Pentagon called the charge ridiculous. A spokesman, Maj. Gen. Daniel James, said, "I know of no such actions taking place and I think it is just another piece of the propaganda web that Hanoi is spinning to obscure the real facts concerning her intransigent position in refusing to negotiate meaningfully for our prisoners of war."

The spying device charge was first raised with the U.S. peace group on Sept. 17 by Hoang Tung, editor of the official Communist Party newspaper, Nhan Dan. He said his government was "extremely upset by electronic devices hidden in packages regularly sent prisoners."

The theme for the annual session was "Happiness and Unity."

During the weekend meeting, lecturers from Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and Ohio, worked together to plan better grange programs for their individual granges and shared ideas with grange leaders for the states in the area.

Dunkle assisted with a memorial service for past Ohio State Grange Lecturer, Gus Umbach, in which he sang two solos.

Ohio members in attendance numbered over sixty and were the largest delegation at the two day conference.

Members of the group said they requested evidence, and material was displayed to them Monday shortly before their departure from Hanoi. They brought with them photographs but none of the material itself.

Mrs. Weiss' group described items such as:

—A giant toothpaste tube which when squeezed was found to contain what Hanoi described as a radio receiving apparatus.

—A candy bar containing paper for writing invisible messages.

—A bar of soap with secret writing equipment inside.

—Peanut shells, condensed milk and instant coffee containers which Hanoi said contained messages.

The messages were said to have requested information about prisoners and their conditions of captivity.

McGovern, Shriver Blitz Ohio For Election Votes

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Democratic candidates for President and vice president are continuing their blitz of Ohio in the hope of landing the state's big bloc of 25 electoral votes.

They say they can't win the election without winning Ohio. And although they've been quoted as saying that in other states, their frequent visits here seem convincing enough.

Ohio has a good batting average in presidential races, having backed a loser only once in recent history. That was in 1969 when Richard Nixon got 2,217,248 votes compared to John Kennedy's 1,944,248. But the state also may hold the key to McGovern-Shriver hopes of loosening big labor support.

Presidential candidate George McGovern was to be in Cleveland Oct. 5 for his second visit there in two weeks, and his running mate, R. Sargent Shriver, has a campaign visit scheduled in Columbus Oct. 3.

Announced earlier were stops Friday by Shriver in Cincinnati and Akron. McGovern had planned to be in Toledo Friday, but cancelled out—reportedly for lack of funds and to provide a "rest and reorganization" period for his staff.

Some Ohio political observers said the Democratic candidates—running low in national polls—are concentrating on Ohio more than any other state. However, newsmen traveling with them said Ohio would run second to New York and "probably in a dead heat" with Pennsylvania. Both of them have been in Pittsburgh twice in the past week or so, it was pointed out.

Early in the campaign, it was expected that McGovern especially would make a big pitch for the youth vote. However, he and Shriver mostly have been in and near factories and union halls, at least in Ohio.

National polls have shown the Democratic standardbearers running behind President Nixon among young voters by an even larger count than among the "older" set.

One Gallup recently showed Nixon leading 61 per cent to 36 per cent among voters 18 to 24.

Man Freed On Bond On Fraud Charge

CINCINNATI (AP) — David Lee Albert, 26, of Cincinnati, accused of lying to the FBI about Cincinnati policemen was free on bond today.

The FBI charged that Albert "willfully and knowingly made a false, fictitious and fraudulent statement to the FBI."

They said Albert reported that officers assaulted and beat him and a companion, identified as Diane Harden, as they were being arrested by the officers Aug. 28.

Community Development's Local Government Ombudsman.

She and her one full-time assistant and 14 part-time technical experts field trouble calls from community leaders and try to match them with state or federal resources that can help.

"I think people are going to be happy with it," she said. "Just knowing there's someone you can call with the information you need is... well, it's heart warming."

At the very least, she said, the callers save long distance phone bills on the toll-free ombudsman hotline finding out they'll have to solve their problems themselves. At most, they'll get free advice and maybe a lead on an obscure federal grant.

One of the tasks Dr. Powell began first when she took over the newly-created ombudsman post in August was to start preparing a catalogue of the 1,100 federal grant-in-aid programs to show local authorities where to get money they might not have known about.

There was the case of the Washingtonville city councilman in Columbiana County who noticed dirty water coming out of his tap and found out the city water system was deteriorating.

Dr. Powell arranged a conference of city officials and state experts who informed them they could probably qualify for a federal water grant if they cooperated on the project with nearby communities.

And then there was the mayor of Bay Village who called to ask what the state could do about village oak trees suffering from oak wilt blight.

The ombudsman arranged for an aerial survey of the trees by the Department of Natural Resources to see how far the disease had spread and advice from the Department of Agriculture on how to stop it.

"It's not a black and white thing," Dr. Powell said. "Quite often you have to say no, there's nothing you can do. Or you show them several alternatives and then they have to make a decision."

Repeal . . .

lumbus Day, a legal holiday.

James Marsh, Brown's legal counsel, said he understood repeal backers would attempt to get the new petitions back by Friday in order to stave off any additional lawsuits.

"But if they feel they have to take the extra time, they are entitled to it," Marsh said.

If the drive is successful, repeal would go on the ballot in the form of a constitutional amendment. Voters would vote "yes" to repeal, "no" to retain the tax.

If repeal is successful at the polls, it would end the current income tax Jan. 1. The amendment would also provide that no future income tax could be adopted without a vote of the people.

The tax was endorsed by Democratic Gov. John Gilligan, but obtained final approval in House last Dec. 10. It calls for a 5 to 3.5 per cent tax on individuals and a 4 to 8 per cent tax on corporations.

Members of the group said they requested evidence, and material was displayed to them Monday shortly before their departure from Hanoi. They brought with them photographs but none of the material itself.

BRAVE GRIDDERS—Logan Elm's football team is sporting a 2-1 record this season under the direction of

Coach Bob Stant and assistants, Sam Wilamowski,

Dave Little and Steve Barney. The Braves will be seeking their third win Friday night when they host the Astros of East Clinton.

County Gridders In League Action

League play will highlight action for all three county schools Friday night with Westfall traveling to Adena and Logan Elm hosting East Clinton in the Scioto Valley Conference while Teays Valley will be at Franklin Heights in a Metropolitan League clash.

The Mustangs will be seeking their first win of the season when they take on a big, strong Adena squad.

Team depth is one of the strong points of the Warriors who are able to make a complete unit change when they switch from offense to defense.

Adena moves from the Wishbone on offense and the running game is powered by a set of big, powerful backs who like to run over people.

THEY will put the ball in the air occasionally but are primarily a ball control type club. The Warriors are the favorites to take top honors in the SVC this year.

Defensively, they will utilize a 5-2 and 6-2 with both zone and man to man coverage in the secondary.

"Lack of depth and inexperience have hurt us in our ball games," Westfall Coach John Glanton stated.

"We have been able to move the ball on offense but mental mistakes have killed our scoring opportunities. Our kids are improving and we have a lot of juniors and sophomores who are learning," Glanton continued.

"Our kids are enthusiastic and their morale is great despite the setbacks we have suffered. They don't get discouraged and give 100 per cent all the time," Glanton stated.

The Mustangs are still hampered by the loss of Ted Musselman who has a broken thumb and will not see any action this week.

THE Mustangs have been able to pickup yardage from the Power I and Slot I formations and hope to do the same against the Warriors.

On defense, Westfall will use a 5-2 monster and a 4-3 with zone pass coverage in the secondary.

The offensive unit of the Mustangs will be: Randy Hildabrand and Wyatt Fraas, ends; Eric Rickabaugh and Ted Hamric, tackles; Tim Hegarty and Craig Moore, guards; Jim Akinson will be over the ball; Dave Shannon, quarterback; Larry Adams and Rick Gaa, halfbacks; Artie Dick, fullback.

When the defensive team takes the field it will be: Walter Garland, middle guard; Akinson and Steve Wynn, tackles; Fraas and Tim Hegarty, ends; Dick and Shannon, linebackers; Gaa, monster man; Tim Bradley, wideback; Adams, short side halfback; Dave Bullock, safety.

"Mental mistakes and turnovers killed us in the Olen-tangy game," Viking Coach Dick Kidwell stated.

"We will be better prepared this week and ready to play," Kidwell said. "We know we must beat Franklin Heights if we are going to stay in the race for the Metro title."

FRANKLIN Heights is sporting a 2-1 record and are coming into the game off a big 7-6 win over West Jefferson last week.

A strong defense is the key to the Falcons success and Coach Ed Lewis gives it full credit for the win over the Roughriders.

The Falcons will throw a 5-2 monster against the Wishbone offense of the Vikings.

On offense, Franklin Heights has installed the Wishbone but according to Coach Lewis they still lack consistency but are improving each outing.

The Falcons like to stay on the ground and are powered by their big fullback, Gary Jones, who is averaging 4.4 yards per carry. Speed is supplied by left halfback Cabell Jones who tears up the sod at a 10.1 clip.

They have a veteran offensive line anchored by a pair of good sized tackles.

THE Vikings have been getting good results with their triple option Wishbone directed by sophomore quarterback Chuck Glitt and exploded by All-Metro fullback Ken Stewart.

Teays Valley has good defensive size and will employ a 5-2 invert to thwart the attempts of the Falcons to move the ball.

The Vikings offensive unit will be: Chris Brenton and Boyd Palsgrove, ends; John Little and Jim Pabst, tackles; Howard Reed at one guard and Jerry Sabine and Jim Williamson alternating at the other guard; Jim Pritchard, center; Glitt, quarterback; Terry Lambert, left halfback; Mike Pettibone and Craig Zeimer, right halfback; Stewart, fullback.

On defense it will be: Bill Hurley, middle guard; Little and Reed, tackles; Pabst and Steve Clark, ends; Sabine and Williamson, linebackers; George Hardbarger and Tony Sayre, invert men; Glitt and Lambert, safeties.

The Braves of Logan Elm will face a strong running team from East Clinton, scouting reports indicate.

The Astros operate from a Wishbone T, running the triple option effectively. They scored 37 points in their season opener, while blanking Western Brown, only a field goal in a 15-3 loss to Williamsburg and crossed the goal line twice in a 14-0 win over Zane Trace last week.

THE key to the triple option is quarterback Perry Whittington and fullback Bob Olds. Both are real strong runners and outstanding defensive players as well. A brother duo mans the linebacking positions for the Astros and Tom and Joe Guard do it effectively.

Their interior line is big and place kicker Mike Valvoord adds the threat of the field goal to the attack. He is capable of booting 40-yards with accuracy.

"We will have to keep them out of our end of the field," LE mentor Bob Stant says.

The Braves are in good physical condition for the game. The only player who will be definitely out of action this week is Derek Morris, injured in an automobile accident last Friday.

Replacing Morris again at split end will be senior Brent Luckhart. The tight end will be Doug Marshall. Offensive tackles are Mike Williams and Marty Fullen. Jim Bigham turned in an excellent performance at offensive guard last week, and has earned a starting position this week, giving veteran linebacker Steve DeBruin the opportunity to concentrate on defense.

The other guard will be Stew Jones. Center is Chris Payne. The backfield will be Steve Sargent at quarterback, Dan Ramey and Brian Barr sharing the fullback duties, Brian Herron and Greg Justus dividing duties at halfback and Gary Francis and Rod Howard sharing the other back position.

DEFENSIVELY the Braves have Terry Crumley and Rod Howard at halfbacks, Justus and Brad Luckhart at cornerbacks, John Mead and DeBruin at linebackers, Marshall and Barr at ends, Chuck Arledge Fullen at tackles and Williams at middle guard.

Last week Mead was one of the outstanding defensive performers in the game. He had five tackles, three assists and sacked the Westfall quarterback in the end zone for a safety.

Depth has been one of the brighter spots in the Braves' football picture this year and Stant and his defensive aide

Kokal KSU Campus Hero For 37-14 Win Over OU

By GEORGE STRODE Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Greg Kokal, spurned by Ohio University, strolled into his Kent State freshman classes today for the first time, already a campus hero for beating the Bobcats.

His 10 of 18 passes for 190 yards and two touchdowns in a 37-14 lacing of Ohio Saturday earned the Golden Flashes quarterback, just 17, Mid-American Conference offensive player of the week honors.

"I wanted to go to Ohio," said the 6-foot-2, 170-pounder from Euclid. "I loved the school. I guess they just didn't want me. I'm kinda glad now."

Kokal hasn't let the pressure of quarterbacking a major college team bother him. It amazes Kent Coach Don James.

"I just look at this as a lot of fun," said Kokal, a pre-med major.

Adds James, "I guess Greg just does not realize he's 17 years old, but it doesn't seem to matter. He sure has the ability."

Kent State is in the unaccustomed spot of sharing the Mid-American lead with Bowling Green after the Flashes' first conference victory in two seasons under James.

The brash Kokal expects such things.

"I haven't been here too long," he said, "but I know we won't be doormats anymore."

Around Ohio: Bowling Green is the Mid-American attendance champ. The Falcons have drawn the most for a road game, 51,859, for their 17-14 upset at Purdue.

They also own the home contest record of 26,860 established against Toledo last year.

Toledo tailback Joe Schwartz' 39 carries against Texas-Arlington last week was not only a school mark, but it's the national high for the 1972 season.

Bob Hitchens, Miami's junior tailback, shares the one-game scoring high of 24 points with two others this season.

Baldwin-Wallace quarterback Ed Casey leads the Ohio Conference in total offense (249.5 yards per game) and passing (18 completions per game). His No. 1 receiver, Willie Avery, also tops the league in receiving, with 14 catches for 299 yards and two touchdowns.

After a 51-7 rout of Edinboro State, Ashland mentor Fred Martinelli proclaimed, "Offensively, that was perhaps our best effort over the last four years."

CHS Runners Cop Tri Meet

Circleville's cross country team took top honors in a triangular meet with Logan and Southeastern Tuesday on the latter's course.

Dick Liston toured the course in 10:04 to take first place for the Tigers.

The Red and Black garnered 21 points to win the meet with Logan taking second with 46 and Southeastern had 60 for third.

Jeff Robbins was third, Matt McGowan fourth, Steve Watters sixth, Glen Gillespie eighth, Robin Martin 10th and John McCoy 11th for the Tigers.

Circleville also won the reserve meet with Bill Massie taking first in 11:34.

Other runners for the Red and Black reserves were: Keith Stevenson, Frank Plescia, Ed Brown, J. C. Timberlake, Tom Spring and Dwight Plum.

Twenty-one runners competed in the varsity meet.

Pittsburgh Pirates Trip Phils, 5-1

By BRUCE LOWITT Associated Press Sports Writer

Roberto Clemente would dearly love to get his 3,000th major league hit in Pittsburgh. But the Pirates' Steve Blass isn't too concerned where he gets his 20th victory—or, for that matter, whether he gets it at all.

"Either I do or I don't," Blass said Tuesday night after winning his 19th of the baseball season, scattering eight Philadelphia hits as the Pirates beat the Phillies 5-1.

"I certainly want 20," added Blass, who would become the first Pittsburgh hurler to reach that plateau since Vernon Law did it in 1960, "but I'm not going to worry about it."

Blass will have one more regular-season start, then he'll rest until the start of the National League playoffs against Cincinnati.

It's likely that the 30-year-old right-hander will open the best-of-five playoff Oct. 7 against the Reds' Don Gullett.

But unlike Blass, Gullett had his problems Tuesday night. The Atlanta Braves ripped him for seven runs in six innings and handed him his 10th loss in 18 decisions en route to a 10-9 victory over Cincinnati.

In other National League games, the New York Mets downed St. Louis 3-1, the Chicago Cubs blanked Montreal 6-0, San Francisco defeated Houston 5-2 and Los Angeles beat San Diego 7-3.

Clemente picked up a pair of singles against the Phillies to raise his major league hit total to 2,996, putting him just four short of a lofty mark reached by only eight other players in the history of the game.

Pittsburgh has two more games in Philadelphia before returning home to face New York and Pirates Manager Bill Virdon announced right after that game that, if Clemente reached 2,999, he'd be benched until the start of the series with the Mets.

"We'd like him to get 3,000 at home," Virdon said—and Clemente echoed the sentiment.

"That's what I want," Roberto said. "I play all my life in Pittsburgh. I'd like to get my big hit there."

The Bucs bunched all their runs against the Phils in the sixth inning. Al Oliver doubled in two, Manny Sanguillen singled for two more and Blass singled for the final run.

Ralph Garr, Dusty Baker and Earl Williams drove in two runs apiece for the Braves, who battered Gullett and two relievers for 13 hits. The decisive run, however, came in the top of the ninth inning on Larvell Blanks' sacrifice fly.

Baker hit his 17th homer while Hank Aaron hit his 32nd, the 671st of his career, putting him 43 short of Babe Ruth's all-time record. Those homers countered two by the Reds' Johnny Bench, who leads the majors with 39 homers and 121 runs batted in. Pete Rose added three RBI to Bench's four in the game as Cincinnati stroked 14 hits.

Jerry Koosman of the Mets had a no-hitter for 6 1-3 innings. But when he gave up a ninth-inning homer to Ted Simmons and then a single, Tug McGraw came on to get the final out and his 25th save.

Ed Kranepool and Wayne Garrett singled home New York runs and Ken Boswell hit a sacrifice fly for another one.

The Cubs remained 4½ games ahead of the third-place Mets in the East as Milt Pappas twirled a four-hitter against the Expos for his 16th victory of the year and 10th in a row.

Billy Williams singled home one run and Glenn Beckert singled for two more in Chicago's four-run third inning, then Williams cracked his 35th homer, a two-run shot, in the fourth.

The Giants wiped out a two-run Houston lead with a four-run fifth and Bobby Bonds drilled his 24th homer in the seventh to give the victory to Sam McDowell, who surrendered Bob Watson's 15th homer in the second inning.

That left the Astros, second in the West, just one game ahead of the Dodgers, who got two-run homers from rookies Ron Cey and Joe Ferguson that provided Mike Strahler with his first complete game in the majors and his first victory of the season, an eight-hitter against the Padres.

Romance Off Bengals Win, Brown Says

CINCINNATI (AP) — The romance was off the Cincinnati Bengals' victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday after Coach Paul Brown viewed the films.

"I'm a bit subdued," Brown said after the viewing of the 15-10 victory, giving Cincinnati a 2-0 lead in the Central Division of the American Conference of the National Football League.

"That took a little romance out of us," he said of the films. Brown was happy over the defensive efforts — the Bengals recovered three fumbles and threw quarterback Terry Bradshaw for losses four times and blocked two field goals.

But the offense, which did not score a touchdown, was a different story.

"We played well defensively but we played poorly offensively. It wasn't just the Pittsburgh defense that hurt us," Brown said. "It was our own play. It was just a general lack of doing the job."

He declined to pinpoint individual lapses.

The Bengals managed only 269 yards total offense against the Steelers, with just 121 coming on the ground where Cincinnati is supposed to be strongest. Horst Muhmann's five field goals constituted all Cincinnati's scoring.

The defense, however, held the Steelers to only 205 yards. "The defense is gaining competence," Brown said, "and that's the main encouraging factor. It points up that our draft is beginning to show results. Take safety Tommy Casanova and defensive end Sherman White, for example."

He also had praise for offensive tackle Pat Matson for his work against defensive tackle Joe Green who outweighs Matson by 25 pounds.

"Pat stayed in there doggedly," Brown said.

The coach said he expected an unfriendly afternoon this Sunday when the Bengals play the Browns at Cleveland.

Browns Get DeMarco From Miami

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Former All-Pro center Bob DeMarco, who started every game last season for the Miami Dolphins, is now property of the Cleveland Browns and will be ready for action Sunday when the Browns take on their state and divisional rival, the Cincinnati Bengals.

DeMarco, 34, was lured out of retirement by the Browns coaching staff and the Dolphins were compensated with a future draft choice.

DeMarco, a 12-year veteran who began his career with the St. Louis Cardinals, retired several weeks ago when former Brown Jim Langer was handed the center job. He was traded to Buffalo, but refused to report and the deal was annulled.

"I was caught in the switch when they handed Langer the job," said DeMarco. "I couldn't complete sitting on the bench. I was Miami's regular center last season and felt that I had one of my best years in pro football. I didn't feel that I should lose the job."

"Rather than being No. 2 there I decided to retire," said DeMarco. "It's different here in Cleveland. I can stand to be No. 2 where I haven't competed."

With the Browns, the 6-foot-2, 205-pound DeMarco will serve on the specialty units and as backup to Fred Hoaglin who became a starter when Jim Copeland dislocated his hip and was lost for the season.

Pete Rose hit a three-run double in the eighth and Cincinnati got one more, but Henry Aaron scored in the ninth on a sacrifice fly and Dennis Menke's run-scoring double in the ninth wasn't enough.

Romance Off Bengals Win, Brown Says

CINCINNATI (AP) — The romance was off the Cincinnati Bengals' victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday after Coach Paul Brown viewed the films.

"I'm a bit subdued," Brown said after the viewing of the 15-10 victory, giving Cincinnati a 2-0 lead in the Central Division of the American Conference of the National Football League.

"That took a little romance out of us," he said of the films. Brown was happy over the defensive efforts — the Bengals recovered three fumbles and threw quarterback Terry Bradshaw for losses four times and blocked two field goals.

But the offense, which did not score a touchdown, was a different story.

"We played well defensively but we played poorly offensively. It wasn't just the Pittsburgh defense that hurt us," Brown said, "it was our own play. It was just a general lack of doing the job."

He declined to pinpoint individual lapses.

The Bengals managed only 269 yards total offense against the Steelers, with just 121 coming on the ground where Cincinnati is supposed to be strongest. Horst Muhmann's five field goals constituted all Cincinnati's scoring.

The defense, however, held the Steelers to only 205 yards.

"The defense is gaining competence," Brown said, "and that's the main encouraging factor. It points up that our draft is beginning to show results. Take safety Tommy Casanova and defensive end Sherman White, for example."

He also had praise for offensive tackle Pat Matson for his work against defensive tackle Joe Green who outweighs Matson by 25 pounds.

"Pat stayed in there doggedly," Brown said.

The coach said he expected an unfriendly afternoon this Sunday when the Bengals play the Browns at Cleveland.

Browns Get DeMarco From Miami

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Former All-Pro center Bob DeMarco, who started every game last season for the Miami Dolphins, is now property of the Cleveland Browns and will be ready for action Sunday when the Browns take on their state and divisional rival, the Cincinnati Bengals.

DeMarco, 34, was lured out of retirement by the Browns coaching staff and the Dolphins were compensated with a future draft choice.

DeMarco, a 12-year veteran who began his career with the St. Louis Cardinals, retired several weeks ago when former Brown Jim Langer was handed the center job. He was traded to Buffalo, but refused to report and the deal was annulled.

"I was caught in the switch when they handed Langer the job," said DeMarco. "I couldn't compete sitting on the bench. I was Miami's regular center last season and felt that I had one of my best years in pro football. I didn't feel that I should lose the job."

Bench Hits Two Homers In Reds' Loss

CINCINNATI (AP) — Johnny Bench took the National League lead with his 38th and 39th home runs Tuesday night, but in a losing effort to another slugger, Henry Aaron who hit his 32nd and led Atlanta 10-9 over Cincinnati.

"It's surprising the way things worked out this way for me," said Bench, who also leads the league with runs batted in at 121.

"It wasn't a matter of just catching up to Nate Colbert (of San Diego) with a 38, because Nate figured to hit a couple more and moved way in front when no one else was hitting them."

Bench has homered six times in the last six games.

"I outguessed myself twice on Bench," said Atlanta starter Jim Hardin, 5-2. He said he threw Bench fast balls both times, the second one at knee level.

"I'll give Bench all the credit in the world. He must be terribly strong because he muscled it out of there."

Hardin gave up eight runs in eight and two-thirds innings but won the game.

"Who ever heard of giving up eight runs and winning a ball game? But I guess it even things out," Hardin said, "when I think of all the close ones I've lost. Truthfully, I had pretty good stuff, but I know it's not going to be very impressive when they look at the box score."

Aaron's homer was number 671, 43 away from the lifetime record of Babe Ruth—714.

"Well, I'm one closer," he said, confessing he was a little tired, "I don't have it in mind hitting a home run every time I go up there. I just try to meet the ball. I figure the home runs will take care of themselves."

"The number is 43 now. I'll admit I can't make it this year," he joked, "but I'm shooting for it."

Reds Manager Sparky Anderson admittedly was upset with the performance of loser Don Gullett on the mound. He had picked the left hander to pitch the first game of the playoffs against Pittsburgh and said he still plans it that way.

"He certainly shouldn't have been hit that hard," said Anderson, noting that every Brave starter had at least one hit and scored at least once.

"He would have been out of the game under normal conditions, but I wanted him to have a good workout."

Gullett gave up seven runs in six innings, six of them earned.

Aaron homered in the first inning, the Reds came back with two on Bench's first homer and the Braves got three more in the third. They scored another in the fifth and two more in the sixth on Dusty Baker's homer.

Bench made it 7-4 with a two-run homer in the sixth, but the Braves made it 9-4 in the eighth.

Pete Rose hit a three-run double in the eighth and Cincinnati got one more, but Henry Aaron scored in the ninth on a sacrifice fly and Dennis Menke's run-scoring double in the ninth wasn't enough.

Brave Gridders—Logan Elm's football team is sporting a 2-1 record this season under the direction of Coach Bob Stant and assistants, Sam Wilamowski, Dave Little and Steve Barney. The Braves will be seeking their third win Friday night when they host the Astros of East Clinton.

County Gridders In League Action

League play will highlight action for all three county schools Friday night with Westfall traveling to Adena and Logan Elm hosting East Clinton in the Scioto Valley Conference while Teays Valley will be at Franklin Heights in a Metropolitan League clash.

The Mustangs will be seeking their first win of the season when they take on a big, strong Adena squad.

Team depth is one of the strong points of the Warriors who are able to make a complete unit change when they switch from offense to defense.

Adena moves from the Wishbone on offense and the running game is powered by a set of big, powerful backs who like to run over people.

THEY will put the ball in the air occasionally but are primarily a ball control type club. The Warriors are the favorites to take top honors in the SVC this year.

Defensively, they will utilize a 5-2 and 6-2 with both zone and man to man coverage in the secondary.

"Lack of depth and inexperience have hurt us in our ball games," Westfall Coach John Glanton stated.

"We have been able to move the ball on offense but mental mistakes have killed our scoring opportunities. Our kids are improving and we have a lot of juniors and sophomores who are learning," Glanton continued.

"Our kids are enthusiastic and their morale is great despite the setbacks we have suffered. They don't get discouraged and give 100 per cent all the time," Glanton stated.

The Mustangs are still hampered by the loss of Ted Musselman who has a broken thumb and will not see any action this week.

THE Mustangs have been able to pickup yardage from the Power I and Slot I formations and hope to do the same against the Warriors.

On defense, Westfall will use a 5-2 monster and a 4-3 with zone pass coverage in the secondary.

The offensive unit of the Mustangs will be: Randy Hildabrand and Wyatt Fraas, ends; Eric Rickabaugh and Ted Hamric, tackles; Tim Hegarty and Craig Moore, guards; Jim Akinson will be over the ball; Dave Shannon, quarterback; Larry Adams and Rick Gaa, halfbacks; Artie Dick, fullback.

When the defensive team takes the field it will be: Walter Garland, middle guard; Akinson and Steve Wynn, tackles; Fraas and Tim Hegarty, ends; Dick and Shannon, linebackers; Gaa, monster man; Tim Bradley, wideback; Adams, short side halfback; Dave Bullock, safety.

"Mental mistakes and turnovers killed us in the Olen-tang game," Viking Coach Dick Kidwell stated.

"We will be better prepared this week and ready to play," Kidwell said. "We know we must beat Franklin Heights if we are going to stay in the race for the Metro title."

FRANKLIN Heights is sporting a 2-1 record and are coming into the game off a big 7-6 win over West Jefferson last week.

A strong defense is the key to the Falcons success and Coach Ed Lewis gives it full credit for the win over the Roughriders.

The Falcons will throw a 5-2 monster against the Wishbone offense of the Vikings.

On offense, Franklin Heights has installed the Wishbone but according to Coach Lewis they still lack consistency but are improving each outing.

The Falcons like to stay on the ground and are powered by their big fullback, Gary Jones, who is averaging 4.4 yards per carry. Speed is supplied by left halfback Cabell Jones who tears up the sod at a 10.1 clip.

They have a veteran offensive line anchored by a pair of good sized tackles.

THE Vikings have been getting good results with their triple option Wishbone directed by sophomore quarterback Chuck Glitt and exploded by All-Metro fullback Ken Stewart.

Teays Valley has good defensive size and will employ a 5-2 invert to thwart the attempts of the Falcons to move the ball.

The Vikings offensive unit will be: Chris Brenton and Boyd Palsgrove, ends; John Little and Jim Pabst, tackles; Howard Reed at one guard and Jerry Sabrine and Jim Williamson alternating at the other guard; Jim Pritchard, center; Glitt, quarterback; Terry Lambert, left halfback; Mike Pettibone

and Craig Zeimer, right halfback; Stewart, fullback.

On defense it will be: Bill Hurley, middle guard; Little and Reed, tackles; Pabst and Steve Clark, ends; Sabine and Williamson, linebackers; George Hardbarger and Tony Sayre, invert men; Glitt and Lambert, safeties.

The Braves of Logan Elm will face a strong running team from East Clinton, scouting reports indicate.

The Astros operate from a Wishbone T, running the triple option effectively. They scored 37 points in their season opener, while blanking Western Brown, only a field goal in a 15-3 loss to Williamsburg and crossed the goal line twice in a 14-0 win over Zane Trace last week.

THE key to the triple option is quarterback Perry Whittington and fullback Bob Olds. Both are real strong runners and outstanding defensive players as well. A brother duo mans the linebacking positions for the Astros and Tom and Joe Guard do it effectively.

Their interior line is big and place kicker Mike Valvord adds the threat of the field goal to the attack. He is capable of booting 40-yards with accuracy. "We will have to keep them out of our end of the field," LE mentor Bob Stant says.

The Braves are in good physical condition for the game. The only player who will be definitely out of action this week is Derek Morris, injured in an automobile accident last Friday.

Replacing Morris again at split end will be senior Brent Luckhart. The tight end will be Doug Marshall. Offensive tackles are Mike Williams and Marty Fullen. Jim Bigham turned in an excellent performance at offensive guard last week, and has earned a starting position this week, giving veteran linebacker Steve DeBruin the opportunity to concentrate on defense.

The other guard will be Stew Jones. Center is Chris Payne. The backfield will be Steve Sargent at quarterback, Dan Ramey and Brian Barr sharing the fullback duties, Brian Herron and Greg Justus dividing duties at halfback and Gary Francis and Rod Howard sharing the other back position.

DEFENSIVELY the Braves have Terry Crumley and Rod Howard at halfbacks, Justus and Brad Luckhart at cornerbacks, John Mead and DeBruin at linebackers, Marshall and Barr at ends, Chuck Arledge Fullen at tackles and Williams at middle guard.

Last week Mead was one of the outstanding defensive performers in the game. He had five tackles, three assists and sacked the Westfall quarterback in the end zone for a safety.

Depth has been one of the brighter spots in the Braves' football picture this year and Stant and his defensive aide

Kokal KSU Campus Hero For 37-14 Win Over OU

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Greg Kokal, spurned by Ohio University, strolled into his Kent State freshman classes today for the first time, already a campus hero for beating the Bobcats.

His 10 of 18 passes for 190 yards and two touchdowns in a 37-14 lacing of Ohio Saturday earned the Golden Flashes quarterback, just 17, Mid-American Conference offensive player of the week honors.

"I wanted to go to Ohio," said the 6-foot-2, 170-pounder from Euclid, "I loved the school. I guess they just didn't want me. I'm kinda glad now."

Kokal hasn't let the pressure of quarterbacking a major college team bother him. It amazes Kent Coach Don James.

"I just look at this as a lot of fun," said Kokal, a premed major. Adds James, "I guess Greg just does not realize he's 17 years old, but it doesn't seem to matter. He sure has the ability."

Kent State is in the unaccustomed spot of sharing the Mid-American lead with Bowling Green after the Flashes' first conference victory in two seasons under James.

The brash Kokal expects such things.

"I haven't been here too long," he said, "but I know we won't be doormats anymore."

Around Ohio:

Bowling Green is the Mid-American attendance champ. The Falcons have drawn the most for a road game, 51,859, for their 17-14 upset at Purdue. They also own the home contest record of 26,860 established against Toledo last year.

Toledo tailback Joe Schwartz' 39 carries against Texas-Arlington last week was not only a school mark, but it's the national high for the 1972 season.

Bob Hitchens, Miami's junior tailback, shares the one-game scoring high of 24 points with two others this season.

Baldwin-Wallace quarterback Ed Casey leads the Ohio Conference in total offense (249.5 yards per game) and passing (18 completions per game). His No. 1 receiver, Willie Avery, also tops the league in receiving, with 14 catches for 299 yards and two touchdowns.

After a 51-7 rout of Edinboro State, Ashland mentor Fred Martinelli professed, "Offensively, that was perhaps our best effort over the last four years."

CHS Runners Cop Tri Meet

Circleville's cross country team took top honors in a triangular meet with Logan and Southeastern Tuesday on the latter's course.

Dick Liston toured the course in 10:04 to take first place for the Tigers.

The Red and Black garnered 21 points to win the meet with Logan taking second with 46 and Southeastern had 60 for third.

Jeff Robbins was third, Matt McGowan fourth, Steve Watters sixth, Glen Gillespie eighth, Robin Martin 10th and John McCoy 11th for the Tigers.

Circleville also won the reserve meet with Bill Massie taking first in 11:34.

Other runners for the Red and Black reserves were: Keith Stevenson, Frank Plescia, Ed Brown, J. C. Timberlake, Tom Spring and Dwight Plum.

Twenty-one runners competed in the varsity meet.

Pittsburgh Pirates Trip Phils, 5 - 1

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Roberto Clemente would dearly love to get his 3,000th major league hit in Pittsburgh. But the Pirates' Steve Blass isn't too concerned where he gets his 20th victory—or, for that matter, whether he gets it at all.

"Either I do or I don't," Blass said Tuesday night after winning his 19th of the baseball season, scattering eight Philadelphia hits as the Pirates beat the Phillies 5-1.

"I certainly want 20," added Blass, who would become the first Pittsburgh hurler to reach that plateau since Vernon Law did it in 1960, "but I'm not going to worry about it."

Blass will have one more regular-season start, then he'll rest until the start of the National League playoffs against Cincinnati.

It's likely that the 30-year-old right-hander will open the best-of-five playoff Oct. 7 against the Reds' Don Gullett.

But unlike Blass, Gullett had his problems Tuesday night. The Atlanta Braves ripped him for seven runs in six innings and handed him his 10th loss in 18 decisions en route to a 10-9 victory over Cincinnati.

In other National League games, the New York Mets downed St. Louis 3-1, the Chicago Cubs blanked Montreal 6-0. San Francisco defeated Houston 5-2 and Los Angeles beat San Diego 7-3.

Clemente picked up a pair of singles against the Phillies to raise his major league hit total to 2,996, putting him just four short of a lofty mark reached by only eight other players in the history of the game.

Pittsburgh has two more games in Philadelphia before returning home to face New York and Pirates Manager Bill Virdon announced right after that game that, if Clemente reached 2,999, he'd be benched until the start of the series with the Mets.

"We'd like him to get 3,000 at home," Virdon said—and Clemente echoed the sentiment.

"That's what I want," Roberto said. "I play all my life in Pittsburgh. I'd like to get my big hit there."

The Bucs bunched all their runs against the Phils in the sixth inning. Al Oliver doubled in two, Manny Sanguillen singled for two more and Blass singled for the final run.

Ralph Garr, Dusty Baker and Earl Williams drove in two runs apiece for the Braves, who battered Gullett and two relievers for 13 hits. The decisive run, however, came in the top of the ninth inning on Larvell Blanks' sacrifice fly.

Baker hit his 17th homer while Hank Aaron hit his 32nd, the 671st of his career, putting him 43 short of Babe Ruth's all-time record. Those homers countered two by the Reds' Johnny Bench, who leads the majors with 39 homers and 121 runs batted in. Pete Rose added three RBI to Bench's four in the game as Cincinnati stroked 14 hits.

Jerry Koonsman of the Mets had a no-bitter for 6 1-3 innings. But when he gave up a ninth-inning homer to Ted Simmons and then a single, Tug McGraw came on to get the final out and his 25th save.

Ed Kranepool and Wayne Garrett singled home New York runs and Ken Boswell hit a sacrifice fly for another one.

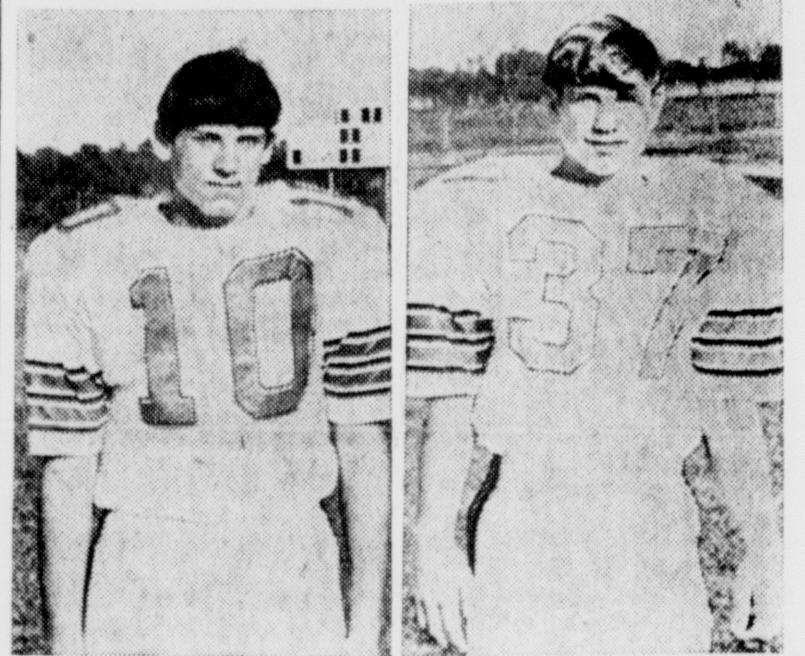

The Cubs remained 4 1/2 games ahead of the third-place Mets in the East as Milt Pappas twirled a four-hitter against the Expos for his 16th victory of the year and 10th in a row.

Billy Williams singled home one run and Glenn Beckert singled for two more in Chicago's four-run third inning, then Williams cracked his 35th homer, a two-run shot, in the fourth.

The Giants whipped out a two-run Houston lead with a four-run fifth and Bobby Bonds drilled his 24th homer in the seventh to give the victory to Sam McDowell, who surrendered Bob Watson's 15th homer in the second inning.

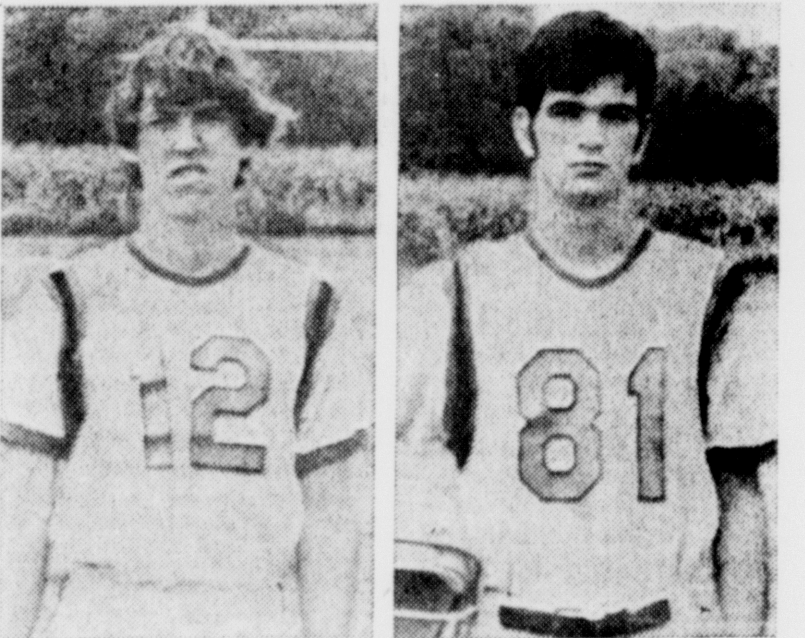

That left the Astros, second in the West, just one game ahead of the Dodgers, who got two-run homers from rookies Ron Cey and Joe Ferguson that provided Mike Strabler with his first complete game in the majors and his first victory of the season, an eight-hitter against the Padres.

Hundreds Of Warplanes Pound North Viet Targets

SAIGON (AP) — Hundreds of American warplanes battered North Vietnam Tuesday, striking the heaviest blows at the big Yen Bai air base midway between Hanoi and the Chinese border and knocking out two MIG21 fighters on the ground, the U.S. Command announced today.

North Vietnam reported that it suffered heavy civilian casualties and extensive damage in the raids Tuesday and claimed they ranged from the demilitarized zone northward to the Chinese border.

A broadcast by Radio Hanoi said there were several hundred civilian casualties, that bombs hit two schools in Hoa Binh and Nghe An provinces south of Hanoi, and that many homes were destroyed or damaged.

A spokesman for the U.S. Command declined comment on that North Vietnamese charges as has been the practice of the command.

A communique from the U.S. Command said more than 300 tactical strikes were carried out across North Vietnam on Tuesday, and many of them were both to the south and north of Hanoi. Other main targets included military barracks and supply depots, the command said.

There were no planes reported lost in North Vietnam, but in South Vietnam a Navy F8 taking off on a mission from Da Nang crashed after a mechanical failure, killing the pilot, spokesmen said.

For the second successive day, U.S. B52 bombing raids across South Vietnam were curtailed to less than half of the normal 100 strikes every 24 hours.

Ohio Guard Opens Drive To Attract More Women

By DAVID TOMLIN
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Adj. Gen. Dana Stewart has learned the hard way to expect the unexpected.

In February Stewart recruited the Ohio National Guard's first-ever woman.

What Stewart didn't expect was the Spec. 4 Marilyn Workman of Cincinnati would be expecting. Neither did Spec. 4 Workman.

She left the Guard after a month to join her husband, who is in the U.S. Army. Now Stewart is ready to try again.

Thursday he will swear in former WAC 1st Lt. Pat Braasch and put her in charge of recruiting more women.

She'll have at her disposal a list of 114 jobs in the guard that women can be authorized to fill. Most are of the "administrative" type, says guard information officer Col. Joseph McCann.

"My job is one of them," McCann said, adding he doesn't plan to vacate it soon.

The guard is in the process of beefing up its recruiting effort on all fronts.

Officials said earlier this year the guard was down 1,300 men below its authorized 15,000-man strength, largely because of diminished draft calls to which the guard had served as an attractive alternative for many men.

McCann said recruits have been coming in at a pretty good clip since June and the 1,300-man deficit has been cut to 900.

"We think we've bottomed out on our losses," he said.

In the realm of black recruiting, on which the guard has been making a special effort since the beginning of the year, the guard has not been so successful.

Stewart held a joint news conference with NAACP and Urban League officials several months ago in which he announced a new emphasis on black recruiting.

McCann said that the program so far has doubled the number of blacks in the guard, but the total still stands at only about 120. "not quite as good as we were hoping."

Instead, the bombers were again diverted across the border into eastern Cambodia to attack North Vietnamese and Viet Cong base camps. Reports said as many as 50 B52 bombers struck in Cambodia in efforts to forestall a new wave of attacks anticipated in South Vietnam's 3rd Military Region. This region includes Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces.

At the time of surgery, doctors refused to speculate on whether the 41-year-old athlete would ever swing a golf club again—much less play professionally. He beat the tumor but for a while afterwards was unable to raise his left arm above his waist.

Orioles Lose To Indians, Lose Ground
BALTIMORE (AP) — It was a typical, frustrating night for the Baltimore Orioles.

With time running out in the 1972 season, the Orioles muffed another chance to pick up ground in the American League chase. First place Boston lost Tuesday, but so did Baltimore.

The Orioles dropped their 32nd, one-run decision of the year when a ninth-inning rally fell short and the Cleveland Indians won 3-2.

Even if the Orioles win their remaining six games, in a belated drive for a fourth straight division title, Boston could edge them out by going 5-3 the rest of the way. With a 6-2 finish, second-place Detroit could top Baltimore.

Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver, usually the optimist, sounded on the brink of accepting the obvious after the latest debacle.

Asked if the Orioles now faced the task of winning all their remaining games, Weaver cracked: "Yeh, we did before this game."

Then he reminded himself that the Orioles also had to face Gaylord Perry, Cleveland's 22-game winner, in the series final tonight.

Forecaster Sees Texas Over Tech

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Is Texas Tech for real or is this the real Texas?
The answer will come in Lubbock Saturday night when the Texas Longhorns, unimpressive in their opening game, begin their quest for a fifth consecutive Southwest Conference championship against the Red Raiders of Texas Tech, who were most impressive in whomping Utah 45-3 and New Mexico 41-16.

"We didn't play a poised, polished game," said Darrell Royal after Texas' 23-10 triumph over Miami, Fla. "I was pleased with the effort and I'm delighted with the win, but I'm really concerned about the kind of football team we have."

So is Tech's Jim Carlen. "Texas," he said, "is a solid club in virtually every area and I think their offensive line is the strongest we've seen since we've been here. But we're a relaxed team and we're looking forward to playing Texas. We know most of their team because we tried to recruit them."

The longshot is tempting, but the Longhorns are the champs until someone proves otherwise. Texas.

Michigan State at Southern California — "Michigan State has as many fast backs as there are in the world," says USC's John McKay. "We'll have to play much better to prevent them from getting outside." Oh! Southern Cal.

Colorado at Oklahoma State—Buffs are thinking national championship. Colorado.

North Carolina at Ohio State—Woody Hayes says last week's layoff will put the Buckeyes at a disadvantage. "At least we didn't lose over the weekend," he said. Nor this weekend, either. Ohio State.

Iowa at Penn State—Hawkeyes are rebuilding and could surprise. Lions' defense, though, is too tough. Penn State.

Oregon at UCLA—UCLA's Wishbone won't score 68, like Oklahoma's did against Oregon, but it'll score enough UCLA.

North Carolina State at Georgia—Bulldogs bounce back. Georgia.

Illinois at Washington—Illini have just played Michigan State and Southern Cal with Penn State, Ohio State and Michigan just around the Washington corner. Six killer games. This is a Sixkiller game ... and the Upset Special of the Week. Illinois.

Rutgers at Princeton—They started the whole thing back in 1869 and Rutgers won 6-4. This is 1972. Princeton.

Brewers Rip Red Sox, 6-4

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
George Scott helped the Boston Red Sox win a pennant in 1967 and could help them lose one in 1972.

The former Boston slugger, dealt to the Milwaukee Brewers last winter, returned to haunt the Red Sox Tuesday night in the midst of their tension-filled American League East baseball race.

"If I say I'm not fired up playing here, I'd be telling a lie," Scott said after hitting a two-run homer at Fenway Park

Gene Littler To Return

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Gene Littler, with 18 years of professional experience, is golf's fifth all-time money winner and a former U.S. Open champion. But when he returns to the pro circuit next week, he says, "It will be like starting all over again."

"I think it will be hard to play for a little while. I'll be nervous," the winner of 25 pro tournaments says. "People will be watching me to see if I can play, and it will be difficult answering all the questions."

The stares and the queries all will deal with the same subject: how someone returns to professional golf after undergoing two operations six months ago for removal of a malignant cancer tumor under the left arm.

At the time of surgery, doctors refused to speculate on whether the 41-year-old athlete would ever swing a golf club again—much less play professionally. He beat the tumor but for a while afterwards was unable to raise his left arm above his waist.

But Littler worked fulltime at building up the weakened muscles and started playing a few holes in June. Now he says he's ready to rejoin his fellow pros at the $300,000 Pacific Club masters tournament in Tokyo Oct. 5.

Cheyunski Named NFL Defensive Star
NEW YORK (AP) — "I thought before the game," New England's Jim Cheyunski said, "that the team seemed to be down. A win like this will get everybody keyed up again."

Cheyunski helped to get the Patriots keyed up. The middle linebacker made 11 unassisted tackles and helped out on seven others to hold favored Atlanta at bay. And it paid off with a 21-20 victory by the Patriots.

His outstanding performance against the high-powered Falcons, conducted despite a cast up to his elbow to protect a broken right hand, earned Cheyunski the selection today as The Associated Press' Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Logan Elm has a 2-1 overall record and is 1-0 in the Scioto Valley Conference. East Clinton has a similar record. The Astros have outscored opponents 54-15 in three games while Logan Elm holds a 35-22 edge in scoring.

Eddie McAshan AP College Back

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Eddie McAshan has been hearing the boos since 1970 when, as Georgia Tech's first black athlete, he became the first black to quarterback a major college football team in the Deep South.

Now, the boos have turned to cheers and McAshan was awarded the game ball Saturday following Georgia Tech's 21-16 upset of nationally-ranked Michigan State, a game in which he completed 16 of 26 passes for 239 yards and two touchdowns.

For that performance, the 6-foot-2, 182-pound senior from Gainesville, Fla., was named National College Back of the Week today by The Associated Press.

Make money while the sun shines. Or when it doesn't.

Not a day passes that savers at Equitable Federal aren't earning interest on their money. That's because we pay interest from the day you deposit until the day you withdraw. We call it day-in-day-out interest. And we pay the highest annual passbook rate allowed by law: 5% compounded quarterly. Our depositors think it's a pretty bright idea.

Await Reaction To Monetary Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — With its bold proposal for reshaping the word monetary system on the table, the United States is settling back to await official foreign reaction to its plan.

Most of the finance ministers and central bankers attending the International Monetary Fund's annual meeting will hold substantive comment after Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz sketched the U.S. plan Tuesday.

"Clear and coherent," West Germany said. The British said much the same thing. Canada called it comprehensive. But the Japanese were reported unhappy. And France worked on a reply.

Shultz proposed that coun-

Block OU Lease Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Jay Flowers has issued a temporary restraining order to prevent Ohio University from leasing part of its abandoned airport to Big Bear Stores until a court hearing can be held Oct. 6.

The order was issued Tuesday.

The suit was filed by the Kroger Co. of Cincinnati and two Athens taxpayers, challenging a decision by Ohio University trustees to lease 16 acres of the former airport to Big Bear.

The suit charges that former university trustee Wayne Brown, while serving as head of Big Bear, directed his firm to submit a lease proposal, while another trustee attempted to discourage Kroger from submitting a proposal.

Kroger said it offered June 8 to lease the tract for $65,000 a year, but that on July 17 trustees approved leasing the tract to Big Bear for $25,000.

Library Pact Award Slated By Officials

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state architect's office says the general contract for construction of a new $3.5-million library at the University of Toledo will be awarded to Mosser Construction, Inc., of Fremont.

The firm submitted the low bid of $3,683,000 for the job. The estimate for the project was $4,081,800.

Await Reaction To Monetary Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — With its bold proposal for reshaping the word monetary system on the table, the United States is settling back to await official foreign reaction to its plan.

Most of the finance ministers and central bankers attending the International Monetary Fund's annual meeting with-held substantive comment after Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz sketched the U.S. plan Tuesday.

"Clear and coherent," West Germany said. The British said much the same thing, Canada called it comprehensive. But the Japanese were reported unhappy. And France worked on a reply.

Shultz proposed that countries with balance-of-payments surpluses should be under as much pressure to change their currency values as those in deficit.

The pressure should come from new international economic sanctions, he said, including the right to impose import surcharges against a country with a chronic surplus. Another sanction would be the loss of any right to convert accumulated foreign-currency holdings into reserves of another country.

Japan's delegation, while making no official comment immediately, was said to be sharply opposed to any direct economic sanctions. The Japanese, heavy exporters, now run a sizable surplus in trade with the United States.

Japan also rejected any notion that its currency, the yen, should again be raised in value.

Shultz proposed new flexibility for the monetary system, including a wider range of permissible international values for the dollar. The dollar would be able to swing in value as much as any other currency can.

Other currencies can swing in value by 9 per cent against each one. But the dollar, because it is the centerpiece of the monetary system, is now limited to a total 4.5-per-cent range.

If the U.S. plan is adopted, the dollar would lose its once-special role as the currency by which the monies of other countries are valued.

Instead, Shultz said, all currencies, including the dollar, should be stated in terms of Special Drawing Rights, or "paper gold," now worth $1.08 each.

SDRs are the newly created international reserve asset designed to supplement gold and settle debts between governments. They are bookkeeping entries, with value based only on mutual trust and confidence. Shultz said gold should be phased out as a reserve asset.
